Liquor Store Objects To Wine Bottle Sales By Main Street Cafe

When Claridge Liquors in Princeton Shopping Center filed an objection to the renewal of the liquor license Main Street of Kingston purchased for its Shopping Center cafe and restaurant, Township Committee was put in the uncomfortable position of conducting a hearing and possibly adjudicating the dispute between two Township businesses.

Claridge, which holds the only Class D distribution license in the Township, objected to Main Street's selling bottles of wine to patrons purchasing take-out food in the cafe portion of its establishment in the Shopping Center. Main Street has a Class C

John Steeet Man Charged In Knife Wielding Robbery

A 22-year-old John Street resident, Edgar Camarillo, has been charged by police with armed robbery, after he allegedly threatened a pedestrian with a knife, while demanding $5 so he could continue drinking.

Camarillo was held on $15,000 bail set by the Borough Administrator following the early Monday morning incident and was later remanded to the Mercer County Jail. His case will be referred to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, pending action by a Mercer County Grand Jury.

Camarillo has also been charged with possession of a weapon and possession

Historic Preservation vs. Development In Conflict over Snowden Lane Property

An application to the Planning Board for subdivision of an historic property and proposed revisions to the Township's historic preservation ordinance are on what may turn out to be a collision course. The application and the ordinance are both scheduled for public hearing and possible action at meetings next week.

The Planning Board has scheduled a hearing Monday, July 7, on an application for subdivision and site plan approval to allow the Maybury Hill property on Snowden Lane to be developed. Witherspoon Properties, whose principal is Marvin Suomi of Princeton Junction, has purchased the 15-acre property and would like to subdivide it into 11 building lots of slightly less than half an acre each, plus two lots of open space and one lot containing the 260-year-old farmhouse, which has fallen into disrepair over the years.

The stucco mansion was the 18th-century home of Aaron Hewes, whose son, Joseph Hewes, was a signer of the Declaration of Independence from North Carolina. Mr. Suomi has said he would renovate the house in keeping with the Township's ordinance and the historic character of the property. He has also said he would be looking to the sale of the lots to pay for the renovations.

Mr. Suomi first presented his plans for concept review in the fall of 1990. Since then he has had an archaeological survey of the site as required by the historic preservation ordinance, and that report has been received by the Township. It talks of the need for further study of the barn area and the importance of respecting the barnyard well during any construction.

Jean Labatut, a distinguished professor in Princeton University's School of Architecture, lived in the house until his death in 1986 at age 87. He had been living alone since the death of his wife Mercedes several years earlier. Prof. Labatut left his property to Princeton University, which later sold it to Witherspoon Properties. A year or so ago, a kitchen wing was all but destroyed in a fire while tenants were occupying the house.

Concern about the deteriorating condition of the house has prompted the Planning Board's Zoning Advisory Review Committee (ZARC) and the Township's Historic Preservation Committee, headed by Elizabeth Tukey, to recommend changes in the historic preservation ordinance.

The proposed amendments were denounced at last week's Planning Board meeting by Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., speaking as attorney for Mr. Suomi and also on behalf of the Institute for Advanced Study. Mr. Jamieson called the ordinance as amended "seriously flawed" and said the amendments were "unfair," particularly to Mr. Suomi, who has spent considerable sums to purchase the property, have the archaeological survey done and to meet the concerns of the Township. If the amendments are adopted they would

Armed Robbery

of a weapon for unlawful purpose.

As related by Captain Peter Hanley, the victim, a 24-year-old Borough resident, was walking on Nassau Street in front of St. Paul's School a few minutes after midnight. He had passed Camarillo earlier in front of 130 Nassau. The suspect followed him, approached him and asked for $5 so he could keep drinking. "We believe he was under the influence of alcohol at the time," said Capt. Hanley.

The victim refused but when he saw Camarillo had an eight-inch knife with a brown handle in his hand, he ran from the scene and stopped a passing motorist who gave him a ride. Alerted by the intended victim, police responded. A few minutes later, Sgt. Donald Dawson and Ptl. Michael Bender apprehended Camarillo on Nassau Street near Moore. The knife was not recovered.

Simple Assault

An incident a few minutes before midnight Sunday at Marita's Cantina restaurant, 138 Nassau Street, ended with police charging Mertyn Marshall, 48, of Maple Terrace, with simple assault.

Twenty minutes earlier, around 11:30, police had been called to the restaurant concerning an intoxicated patron. The patron left without any further incident. When officers in a patrol car drove by the restaurant again around 11:50 they observed the same suspect entering the restaurant.

Their investigation revealed that Marshall had confronted the bartender, who refused to serve him, saying the bar was closed. As police were escorting him out, he grabbed a chair and flipped it at Ptl. Vincent DeMartino. At this, he was placed under arrest, taken to headquarters and charged.

Marshall was later released but faces a hearing Monday in Borough court.

Slapped in Face

Another simple assault incident occurred early Saturday morning at the Wawa Store on University Place.

A suspect, reported Capt. Hanley, entered the store at 1:35 and sat down on a pickle barrel. When a 20-year-old female employee asked him not to sit there a verbal exchange erupted between the two. The suspect then slapped her in the face and left.

He is described as a stockily-built black male in his early 20s.

Change in Parking Rules Are Focus of Objections

A possible change in parking regulations on several streets surrounding Murray Place has sparked cries of disapproval from a number of residents of the affected streets who do not want the current two-hour restrictions removed.

Borough Council has been considering removing the two-hour restrictions and returning the streets to all-day parking. The restrictions were placed about a year ago, in response to concerns that the construction on the Engineering Quadrangle was causing a glut of all-day parking.

The affected streets include portions of Murray Place, Aiken Avenue, Patton Avenue, and Princeton Avenue. All-day parking would also be permitted on the south side of Prospect Avenue between Fitz-Randolph and Harrison.

Several members of Council have been anxious to return the affected streets to all-day parking because they feel the all-day-parking ban on the south side of Nassau Street has led to serious problems on the north side. Streets such as Maple and Pine, for example, are said to be impossible to park on during the day. These streets do not have two-hour limits.

The matter was expected to be discussed at the Borough Council meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, June 23. Representatives of Princeton University were scheduled to attend.

Council was expected to be presented with two petitions. The first, signed by about 30 residents, asks that the ordinance lifting the two-hour restrictions be returned for further study.

The petition states that there does not appear to be any concessions on the part of the University to help alleviate the serious parking problem that exists, and asks the University to do three things: Open up Broadmead and Fitzrandolph for daytime parking; return the parking and shuttle program at Jadwyn Gym; and allow a restricted number of parking spaces in the new University garage for Davidson's and/or Wawa staff members.

Rejection Asked

A second petition, signed by about 20 residents, simply states opposition to the proposal to allow all-day parking and asks Council to reject this suggestion.

In a letter to Mayor and Council, Princeton Avenue resident Graham Rohrer said Councilman David Goldfarb's memo on the proposed parking changes, which was distributed to residents in the east end of town, "has created quite a storm of protest in the area."

"The fact that the current problem happens to be where the Mayor and a Councilwoman live [Mayor Reed and Councilwoman Jane Terpstra are Maple Street residents] must be embarrassing to them," Mr. Rohrer wrote. "But it does highlight the fact that the basic problem is University permit-carrying cars. It is to many of us inconceivable that the University, as an example, still refuses to open Fitzrandolph and Broadmead to nonresident parking — at least during daytime hours."

At the Tuesday night meeting, Council was also expected to approve an ordinance appropriating $12,000 to construct a parking lot at the corner of Witherspoon and Hulfish Streets, and to consider a request from Township Committee to obtain a commercial appraisal for the Chambers Street firehouse.

School Board Meetings Will Be Long & Intensive

The Board of Education continues its intensive schedule of meetings, with additional ones planned for Tuesday nights, June 23 and June 30. The heightened pace is necessary if the Board wants to make decisions that could be implemented in time for the opening of school in September.

The June 23 agenda promises that the meeting will continue at least to midnight, as many have in the past several months. The agenda also promises to ignite some controversy — not an unusual happening at a School Board meeting.

Possibly the most controversial topic will be a discussion of the new high school attendance policy. As prepared by High School Assistant Principal Owen Snyder, the plan will call for a further tightening of attendance policy, with the aim of stopping students from cutting classes.

The attendance policy approved by the School Board about two years ago, which decreased the number of allowable cuts, met with considerable resistance. A number of students felt that the new plan showed a lack of trust in them, and that it was this trust in its young people that had made Princeton High School unique.

Next Year's Goals

At last week's meeting, the School Board devoted considerable time to a discussion of goals for next year. It was assisted in this effort by Toby Simon, assistant executive director of the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Although still far from finalized, the Board goals are led by a call for a review of the current middle school program to make sure that it best meets the educational needs of children in grades 6, 7, and 8.

TOPICS Of the Town

The second goal — the review of all major curricula on a five-year cycle — led to a spate of comments by Board members.

Board President Gerald Groves said there was a formal curriculum review process to do this in place, but that it has not been working.

There was also some concern about sequencing, and about whether the Board was kept aware of the stage of a particular curriculum as it was being reviewed.

Ms. Simon recommended that only two subjects be done at a time, one less major than the other.

"The current process does not always bring merit," said Board Member Ann Baynes Coiro. "Language Arts worked out well, Math did too, but only after a revolution."

She was referring to an earlier comment by Dr. Groves, who said that the math curriculum review process had led to 40 or 50 members of the community coming in and saying they would do it themselves.

Board member John Clearwater reminded his colleagues that the most frequent concern raised by individual Board members when they prepared a list of goals was curriculum.

Focusing on Minorities

The third draft goal was to develop a district-wide action plan to enhance the educational achievement of minority students and increase their participation in school activities.

Board member Corinne Kyle suggested that at-risk students might be added to this goal, but Ms. Simon said she would not suggest mixing the two. "They don't fit into the same goal," she said.

Mr. Clearwater said that this goal, as it was written, fits right in and targets the minority population.

"It is true that minority students are achieving across the spectrum, but they are skewed at the low end," said Dr. Groves. "Also, a significant number of white ethnics and other groups are doing quite poorly. It is harder to identify them."

Ms. Simon suggested that the Board focus on minority students this year, and turn its attention to at-risk students the following year.

There was some discussion about whether to form a joint

Failure to Pooper Scoop Results in Fine

Okay, so who's going to be the first to file a complaint about someone's dog violating the Borough's pooper-scooper ordinance? Raise your hand if you're willing to walk up to someone who has not cleaned up after his or her dog, get the person's name, file a complaint at Borough Hall, and appear in court.

The line for this has hardly run around the block. In fact, no one has been willing to do it. That is, until Borough resident Jan Weinberg decided he would. Mr. Weinberg hates pollution, and is glad that the Borough has a pooper-scooper law.

Mr. Weinberg filed his complaint against James Ealy, who he said, on June 11, walked away after being asked by Mr Weinberg to clean up after his dog.

In Borough municipal court Monday afternoon, Mr. Ealy, of 219 Nassau Street, was fined $20, plus $15 in court costs, for not complying with the ordinance that requires him to clean up after his dog.

The ordinance was passed more than a year ago, in May 1991. In all this time, not one person has filed a complaint. This possibility was foreseen by Councilwoman Jane Terpstra back in February, 1991, when Council was discussing whether to make pooper-scooping mandatory. "I don't see any reason to draft an ordinance that is not going to be enforced," she said.

The strongest support for the ordinance had come from Councilmen Ray Wadsworth, David Goldfarb, and Roger Martindell. "It's getting out of hand," Mr. Wadsworth said at the time. "People with dogs in Princeton unleash them and let them run in St. Paul's cemetery. It's a disgrace."

It was clear early in the Council's discussion that the Police would not be involved in enforcement. Mr. Goldfarb, however, said that the ordinance worked well in New York City without any enforcement.

Mr. Ealy, a bartender at J.B. Winberie, was stopped by Mr. Weinberg shortly after Mr. Weinberg saw his dog breaking the law in front of 185 Nassau Street. Mr. Weinberg said he asked Mr. Ealy, who was with his fiancee, Jennifer Bowers, to pick up the dog's droppings. "He didn't. He walked away," said Mr. Weinberg.

Mr. Ealy, who said he was surprised by Mr. Weinberg's arrogant tone, said he returned 15 minutes later to pick up the droppings.

Mr. Weinberg was the rental agent for the couple's apartment. He said he had told them of the ordinance, and they had agreed to abide by it.

In his decision, Judge Raymond Barson found the defendant did not retrieve the feces within the time frame defined by the ordinance. "Under his own admission, he took 15 minutes before he returned for the feces," the Judge said.

Prosecutor Mark Citron recommended a guilty finding. He noted, however, that it was a first offense, and asked the judge to consider as a mitigating factor the fact that Mr. Ealy had scraped up the feces.

Judge Barson said he felt a $20 fine was adequate for the first offense. Under the ordinance, a person found guilty could be subject to a $500 fine, or 60 days in jail, or both.

"We have such a problem here," said Mr. Weinberg. "People are unwilling to file a complaint. Perhaps t can show them it's not so bad."

school-community committee to discuss Princeton's educational values as a community. This was suggested by Board Member Patty Soffronoff. Another suggestion was that there be a long-range plan that would focus on educational values, but would also consider budgetary restraints.

Given that the first approach is philosophical and the second pragmatic, Ms. Simon said the two could not comfortably fit into one report. Dr. Groves suggested the possibility of a two-pronged approach: a report on values, followed by a long-range plan informed by the values.

Ms. Simon will prepare another draft of the goals, which will be discussed at an upcoming meeting of the School Board.

New Choir Director Hired At Princeton High School

Geoffrey Holland, a third-year doctoral student and former teacher, has been named choral director at Princeton High School. He replaces William Trego, who is retiring from the Princeton Regional School District after 27 years. Mr. Trego has been named director of choral activities at Princeton University.

Mr. Holland completed his required course work last month at Indiana University, where he has also been associate instuctor at the School of Music since 1989.

Previously, he was director of vocal music at West Orange High School in West Orange. He also taught at two private schools, The North Shore Country Day School in Winneteka, Ill., and The Calhoun School in New York City.

Mr. Holland holds a master of music in choral conducting from the University of Cincinnati and a bachelor of music in music education from Westminster Choir College.

"Coming from a graduate school experience, he brings wonderful youth and energy to the choir," Marcia Wood told the School Board at its meeting last week. Ms. Wood is a member of school-community search committee that was charged with selecting a new choral director.

Other committee members are Ann McGoldrick, Peter Westergaard, James Scott, Allen Crowell, William Trego, Nanciannc Parrella, Anthony Biancosino, Robert Loughran, Owen Snyder, and Marylu Coviello.

Mr. Holland will work with the committee in selecting an associate choral director to replace Nancianne Parrella, who is retiring after 33 years.

Without stating so directly, several Board members appeared to imply that they would like to see a member of a minority group hired as the assistant choral director. They were responding to the long-exprssed desire to see more minority students involved in the choral music program.

Ms. Wood told Board members that if this were an overriding concern, they would have to come to grips with it in funding the search.

"It is a pretty important concern of the Board to involve those groups of students who are not participating," said Board President Gerald Groves. "We have some information they participate out of school. Perhaps this can be addressed in a more focused way with an assistant director."

206 Widening Deferred Under DOT Agreement

Montgomery Township and the state Department of Transportation have reached an agreement that would defer the DOT's plans to widen Route 206 to four lanes through Montgomery until at least the year 2005.

The agreement was reached after two long negotiating sessions between DOT officials and Montgomery Mayor John Warms and Montgomery Township Committeeman Robert Kress on June 10 and 11. It was unveiled at a Montgomery Township Committee meeting last Wednesday and is expected to be formally approved by the Committee this Wednesday. It must also be ratified by DOT Commissioner Thomas Downs.

Under the terms of the agreement, the state would not carry out its plan to widen Route 206 through Montgomery until the year 2005 or until 206 is widened between the Somerville Circle and the Hillsborough border, whichever comes later. The state would also suspend plans to design or build a bypass involving the condemnation of homes in the Johnson Drive area in Montgomery.

The DOT could revive the project through Montgomery only after completing a lengthy re-evaluation study, which would include such components as local traffic counts, a traffic origin and destination study, consideration of the alternative of not building the road, evaluating mass transit alternatives and impact on historic sites and air quality conditions.

In exchange for the commitment to postpone the widening, Montgomery would agree not to create additional historic districts along Route 206 and would notify the state of all development applications along any of the proposed alignments in the Harlingen area. Route 206 would be widened to four lanes from Somerville south through the Belle Mead-Griggstown Road intersection in Montgomery. Bypassing the existing dangerous Belle Mead railroad bridge, it would cross the site of the proposed Bellemead Development Co. housing development, along a path the developer has already set aside.

The DOT has agreed to expedite the intersection improvements Montgomery has sought at the entrance to the Montgomery Shopping Center and at the intersections of Route 206 with River Road, Orchard Road and Sunset Road, all of which are viewed as dangerous. The proposed agreement makes no mention of improvements to the intersection of Routes 206 and 518, which Montgomery had sought earlier, but Mr. Kress said that Montgomery would leave that to Somerset County, which controls Route 518.

The proposed settlement calls for Montgomery to withdraw its lawsuit against the DOT and sets the terms under which Montgomery could file another suit. Montgomery residents and Montgomery Township Committee rejected an earlier settlement, which would have permitted the DOT to widen Route 206 through the center of the Harlingen historic district or to demolish 12 houses in the Johnson Drive area west of the district to allow a bypass.

Copper Cable Is Stolen, 1,200 Feet Worth $2,750

Twelve hundred feet of half-inch woven copper cable coiled onto a wooden spool was stolen this month from the roof of the Hibben Apartment building off Faculty Road. Lt. Mario Musso of the Township police said the approximate value is $2,750.

The cable is owned by Princeton University which is in the process of repairing the roof at the apartment complex. The theft was discovered June 15.

Also discovered missing last week from a construction site at the Johnson Park School off Rosedale Road is $1,000 worth of western ridge cedar lap siding. The 1x6 siding was stacked and covered on school property on Friday but was found unwrapped Monday morning by a superintendent for Lott Group Inc. of Vincentown, the victim.

A 42-year-old resident of Walnut Lane reported to police on Thursday that 15 $50 bills were missing from a vase in his home. There are no suspects.

In one of two thefts from parked cars, a Wayne resident reported the theft of her pocketbook from her Chevy Caprice while it was parked last week in a business lot on River Road. Someone smashed the driver's side rear window to remove the $30 purse which contained $100.

A 17-year-old Princeton Day School student listed the theft of his wallet from the glove compartment of his VW Rabbit which he had parked near the school's tennis courts. The car, police said, was not locked. He lost $40.

Thieves will steal just about anything, including a black and white wooden pig from a flower garden outside a doctor's office in the 601 Ewing Street office complex. The two by three-foot pig, pulled from the ground, is valued at $200.

170 Graduate from John Witherspoon Middle School

Graduation ceremonies for 170 eighth-grade students at John Witherspoon Middle School were held Monday afternoon at Richardson Auditorium. Principal William Johnson spoke to the graduates, who were welcomed as incoming freshmen by Princeton High School Principal Marylu Coviello. Ann Baynes Coiro spoke for the School Board. The class was also addressed by several of the graduates. Punch was served outside Richardson after the 1½-hour ceremony, and everyone had a chance to say goodbye to their classmates for the summer.

3 Thefts at Dillon Gym

"We're investigating the possibility that all are related," said Capt. Peter Hanley, after he reported three thefts in offices at Dillon Gym. The previous week there was another theft at the gym.

A locked room was entered overnight without force and although several desk drawers were pried open, nothing has been discovered missing. Between Monday and the previous ten days, someone entered a locked office — again without force — and removed $10 in coins from an unlocked desk. The coins are owned by a 32-year-old employee of the University assigned to that office.

During the previous weekend, an equipment room in the gym was entered and $85 was taken from a desk. Capt. Hanley said that both the room and desk were believed to be locked but there were no signs that either had been forced.

Earlier this month, about $100 was taken from a desk drawer in an office in the gym used by the tennis team.

Police are also investigating another campus theft at Robertson Hall that houses the Woodrow Wilson School where an envelope addressed to an employee was stolen from her mail slot. The following day, the envelope, marked personal and confidential, was recovered in a stairwell in the building. Also recovered from inside the envelope was a $640 check and a piece of paper belonging to the addressee, a 38-year-old Borough resident.

Between 10 and 10:50 Monday evening, a 10-foot, cloth-covered couch was stolen from a hallway outside the victim's apartment in a Witherspoon Street building. Police report that the couch, valued at $200 by its 22-year-old owner, had been too high to get in the apartment door and it had been left in the hallway for several months. The entranceway to the hallway is not locked.

A compact Denon stereo unit, still in its shipping carton and worth $590, was stolen overnight last week from an office shelf in a building in the 100 block of Nassau Street. According to Capt. Hanley, a number of people are in and out of the office every day and there are no suspects.

Dare Graduates and Instructors:

Two of the 175 graduates of Princeton's first DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Program) hold their certificates during last week's graduation program at John Witherspoon Middle School that filled the school's auditorium. From left are fifth graders Tyeisha Ashe and Noah Stout. At right is Allison Politziner, whose daughter, Sarah, was one of the DARE graduates. Mrs. Politziner is co-chairperson of the Princeton Municipal Alliance, a community-based agency that helps channel state and federal funds into local substance abuse programs such as DARE. Standing, from left, are the police officers who taught the 17-week course at JWS and St. Paul's School: Det. Dennis McManimon of the Borough; Det. Renn Kaminski, the Township juvenile officer and Det. David Dudeck, the Borough juvenile officer. The officers visited classrooms each week to teach the students about self-esteem and peer pressure but most importantly to educate them in all the ways to say no to drugs. Part of the program included anti-drug skits and comments from Township Mayor Richard Woodbridge, Police Chiefs Thomas Michaud of the Borough and Jack Petrone of the Township, Police Commissioner Mark Freda and Princeton School Superintendent Dr. Carol Choye.

Romper Ripped Off

A $110 sleeveless short romper was shoplifted early last week from a Palmer Square clothing store. A clerk told police it was taken between 4 and 4:45 when the store was busy. The theft was not discovered until later in the day.

Four cassette tapes worth $30 were stolen from the center console of a 1985 Plymouth while it was parked last week between 10:45 in the evening and 2 the next morning in the 100 block of Nassau Street. The car's right front window had been smashed and its rightside rear view mirror broken. The victim lives in Hamilton Square.

Two video tapes valued at $40 each were stolen from the TV lounge in Laughlin Hall on the University campus. The victim is a student.

Three more bicycles were stolen last week in the Borough.

A $200 Huffy mountain bike was taken during the weekend from the grounds of Princeton High School where its student owner had left it locked to a rack with a chain lock. The lock was cut.

A Schwinn 10-speed model, worth $160 and unlocked, was taken from alongside the Palmer Square kiosk. The victim, a Borough resident, works in the nearby One Palmer Square building.

A $70, three-speed dirt bike was taken during the weekend from inside a Moore Street garage. Neither the bike nor the garage was locked.

Owner in Back Yard: Thief Enters in Front

Early last week a resident of Jonathan David Court in the Griggs Farm housing project was sitting in her backyard until 9 in the evening; when she went back inside she discovered that her purse was missing from the top of a chest by the front door. She later found it behind a living room couch, minus $8 it contained.

The next day, as the victim went to turn on her stereo, she noticed a $150 Sony portable CD player was missing. Also taken: a $12 Elton John disc. Police report the front door was not locked.

'Power Braker' Charged With Drunken Driving

A Leigh Avenue resident, whom police said was power braking, was arrested Sunday evening and subsequently charged with driving while intoxicated.

The driver, Julio D. Floresariza, 27, was also charged with having an open container of alcohol in his car, careless driving and failure to wear a seat belt. He was later released and is scheduled for a preliminary hearing on Tuesday in Township court.

Shortly before 8 in the evening, Ptl. Scott Porreca observed the driver of a 1985 Mercury power breaking: revving the engine with the brake on and then releasing the brake to cause the tires to squeal. Ptl. Porreca stopped the car.

While the officer was questioning the driver, he detected a strong odor of alcohol and placed Mr. Floresariza under arrest.

Because of a language barrier, Mr. Floresariza was taken to Princeton Medical Center where samples of his blood were taken to be sent to a police lab for analysis.

Paint Store Is Flooded In PSC with Garden Hose

The Sherwin Williams paint supply store in the Princeton Shopping Center was the victim of vandalism last week.

Between 3 and 6:40 Thursday morning, someone took a garden hose used by maintenance employees at the center, shoved it through a mail slot in a door and turned it on, flooding the store with one to two inches of water.

According to police, a number of stock items sustained water damage but there was no estimate of the dollar amount.

Sunroof Shattered

Last week, while a baseball game was in progress at the Valley Road field, a 1992 Toyota parked near the field had its sunroof smashed — apparently the target of a foul ball.

Police said the victim is an employee at Princeton Medical Center and that a few rooms in the Valley Road School building are used for nursing instruction. No note was left on the car.

Nine Area Births Listed At the Medical Center

In the week ending June 18, six boys and three girls were born to area residents at Princeton Medical Center.

Sons were born to John and Deborah Ann Johnson of Belle Mead, Stephen and Beverly Tremel of Princeton, both on June 12; Markian and Cynthia Jnwarsky of Princeton, June 13; Mel and Rosemary Treatt-Peters of Plainsboro, June 15; Raki and Fumiko Nazikian of Princeton, June 17; and Michael and Dymphna Camuso of Princeton, June 18.

Yemenite Jewish Studies Is Topic of Conference

The Institute of Semitic Studies, with the Princeton University Committee for Jewish Studies and The Association for Society and Culture, will hold the Second International Congress of Yemenite Jewish Studies at McCormick Hall 101, Princeton University, from Sunday through Tuesday.

The first International Congress was held in Bar-Ilan University, Israel, in 1990, and was attended by Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and other dignitaries as well as scholars from all over the world.

More than 40 papers will be presented at the Congress on all aspects of Jewish life in Yemen and Israel, spanning the history of the Yemenite Jewish community from the time the first Jewish exiles arrived in the region, about 2500 years ago, until the present. These papers will cover a broad range of topics related to Yemenite Jewry, including their dress, dance, poetry, song, religious literature, women's songs, false messiahs, philosophical works, medicine, language, prayer, relations with the Muslim community, the Jews of Aden, and the situation of those few Jews still living in Yemen today.

Among the speakers will be prominent researchers from Israel, Europe (including the CIS — the former USSR), Canada and the United States, including Professors Reuben Ahroni, Sheila Carapico, Mishael M. Caspi, Harry Fox, Meir Havazalet, Ephraim Isaac, Philip Lewis, Laurence Loeb, Uri Sharvit, Johanna Spector, and Yosef Tobi. Of particular note is the participation of two researchers from the CIS, Professors Abraham Lundin and Serguey Frantsuzoff. Their primary area of interest in the history of Yemenite Jewry before the rise of Islam.

This Congress is the first event of its kind outside of Israel where studies of the Jews of Yemen will be presented to a scientific gathering of international stature. The aim of this Congress is to emphasize the central role of the Yemenite community in maintaining and preserving authentic ancient Jewish traditions.

The Shabbat preceding the Congress will be devoted to the study of and the experience of Yemenite Jewish traditions with a group of 40 persons from Israel, led by Ovadiah Ben-Shalom, president of the Association for Society and Culture in Israel. There will be prayers in the Yemenite tradition, festive meals, lectures and an artistic program on Motzaei Shabbat.

Religious services in the traditional Yemenite style will be held at Whig Hall Friday and Saturday. The Congress itself will open with a ceremonial convocation on Sunday evening at 7. Shim'on Avizemer, former Israeli Consul in India and currently head of the Department of Higher Education of the Israeli General Labor Organization, will chair the opening session.

The second part of the evening will be highlighted by a performance of song and dance by a troupe, formerly of the Inbal Theater, led by Israeli prize winner Sarah Levi-Tannay.

The Congress if free and open to the public. For further information call 921-3242.

Driver "Pen"alized by His Emotions

When a Doylestown, Pa. resident last week saw a meter officer writing up a ticket for his car that was parked in a no-parking-from-here-to-curb zone on Palmer Square, he became agitated. So agitated, in fact, that he reached out and grabbed the pen from meter enforcement officer Darlene Scheetz.

Ms. Scheetz used her walkie-talkie to notify police. Sgt. Robert Currier and Ptl. Daniel Brown responded and confronted Keith Lachapelle, 31, who was still at the scene.

Mr. Lachapelle was not arrested but he was issued a summons the following day charging him with being a disorderly person for violating a Borough ordinance.

When Mr. Lachapelle comes to town again on July 13 to appear in Borough Court he will find there are no parking meters in front of Borough Hall.

Driver Pays Four Fines In Borough Traffic Court

In Borough traffic court Monday, Christopher R. Hunninghake, 154 Dodds Lane, was fined $320, had his license revoked for one year and was sentenced to 14 days community service by Judge Ray J. Barson as an uninsured driver. Mr. Hunninghake was also fined $35 each on three more violations: failure to change address, unregistered and uninspected vehicle.

Anthony J. Girard, 301 Blue Spring Road, paid $80 each for speeding and careless driving and $40 for improper maintenance of lights.

For having an open container of alcohol in his car Ovassim El Moudden, 217C King Street, was fined $220; Kemp Battle, 2805 Main Street, Lawrenceville, was fined $70 for obstructing passage of other vehicles and Catalin Fotache, Prospect Avenue, was fined $40, no insurance card in possession.

In criminal court, Thomas Shockley, 150 Spruce Street, was fined $150, $20 court costs and $50 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for damage to property.

July 4 Ice Cream Social At Living History Farm

The public is invited to attend an ice cream social at Howell Living History Farm on Saturday, July 4, from 10 to 4. Draft horse rides, hand-cranked ice cream, and a toy boat race will be part of the day's activities, which will take place against a backdrop of ripening wheat and knee-high corn.

Ice will be drawn from the farm's recently restored ice house at 1 and 3, with hand-cranked ice-cream-making following. Throughout the afternoon, visitors can purchase ice cream sodas, sundaes, and snow cones.

A children's craft program, "Boat Making and Racing," will be offered continuously from 11 to 3. Races on the farm pond will be held at 1 and 3:30, with prizes awarded to the builders of the fastest boats. The craft costs $1 per person.

Belgian draft horse Mae will be relieved of her regular duties in order to pose with riders from 10 to 4. Proceeds from the rides will be used to help restore the farm's circa-1790 horse barn.

Howell Farm is located on Valley Road, just off Route 29, two miles south of Lambertville. Parking and admission are free.

$20,000 in Scholarships By Princeton Foundation

The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation of Princeton will provide $17,000 in scholarship aid for mature second-career women attending Rider College during the 1992-93 academic year. An additional $3,000 has been offered to the College in the form of a challenge grant to begin a Newcombe Endowed Scholarship Fund with matching contributions from alumni and friends of Rider. This is the 12th year that mature women students at Rider have benefitted from Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation scholarships.

For the coming academic year, the Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation has made $666,000 in scholarship aid available to physically disabled and mature second-career women students at 41 colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York City, Delaware, Maryland, and Washington, D.C. Grants are made to institutions and not individuals.

Summer Camp Planned By Creative Theater

Creative Theatre is taking registration for its summer camp of acting workshops for children ages 4 to 15.

Classes in creative drama for 4 to 6 year olds combine visual arts, music, movement and drama. These classes are held from 9:30 to noon weekdays, starting June 29 and continuing through August 28. For 7 to 11 year olds, a story is used as a springboard for the students' own ideas. Classes for this age group are held weekdays from 1:30 to 4.

Twelve to 15 year olds will create their own version of Beverly Hills 90210 entitled Princeton 08540. With creative dramatist Pamela Hoffman and video producer Karen Fowler, students will choose possible characters, improvise scenes and then videotape in various locations throughout town their own video rendition of the well-known television series.

Two one-week sessions are planned for June 29 to July 3 and August 24 to 28, from 10:30 to 4 each day.

For more information, cost and registration forms, write Jean Prall at Creative Theatre, 102 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540, or call 924-3489.

Liquor License

consumption license, which evidently also allows the selling of package goods under certain conditions.

Those conditions involve the size of the bar in relation to the rest of the area, the presence of a certain number of opened bottles of "spirits" for making mixed drinks, and other technical details, all of which were laid out before Township Committee on Monday night. Sue Simpkins and John Marshall, president and vice president, respectively of EAT, Inc., Main Street's corporate name, were present with their lawyer, Joseph D. Priory.

John Vassallo Jr. represented the owner-operators of Claridge Liquors. Mr. Vassallo said he was not objecting to the consumption aspect of the liquor license renewal. "Our problem is only the sale of package goods," he said. "Any bottle sold there is one less sold by my client."

Mr. Marshall said that package sales were negligible — 28 bottles of wine during the entire month of May. Mr. Vassallo said it was the potential sales that were of concern. "We're trying to nip this in the bud," he said. He also maintained that Main Street's physical layout and manner of operation does not conform to the regulations for permitting sale of package goods.

Citing the "technical challenge" posed by Claridge's objection, Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand said she did not see a conflict and urged the two Township businesses to resolve their differences. Committeeman Laurence Glasberg also asked why, if package goods sales are such a negligible part of the business, Main Street had invested in legal counsel to protect the practice.

"Claridge never came to us as neighbors," Ms. Simpkins responded. "They came to us with big threats and big sticks. It is a matter of principle. It's not going to change the figures in our business to concede this. I don't think it's fair to the public to concede it."

Nonetheless, under the guidance of Edmond Konin, esq., sitting in for Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer, the two parties spent the rest of the evening in meetings in adjoining rooms, alone with Mr. Konin or together, trying to find a compromise satisfactory to both. Finally, at 12:15 they announced that they had reached an agreement, the details of which were not to be announced that night. Rather, they were to be put in writing, and if satisfactory to both sides, the objection would be withdrawn, allowing the Township to grant Main Street its liquor license renewal before the June 30 deadline.

If the written agreement is not satisfactory, the matter will be brought up again at Township Committee's meeting on Monday, June 29.

While this series of meetings was going on, doors opening and closing, attorneys conferring with Mr. Konin and with each other, and Mr. Priory with his clients, Township Committee endeavored to carry on the rest of its business.

New Entrance to PSC

One item on the agenda involved the proposed new entrance to the Shopping Center designed to reduce the number of accidents at the southern entrance. Appropriating funds for this work had been postponed because of questions raised by the Shopping Center owners concerning who pays what of the $51,500 that the project had been estimated to cost. On Monday, Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser reported that these issues had been resolved amicably.

The Shopping Center will pay for all the work on the Shopping Center property, but it will bid the work itself, hoping thereby to reduce by 15 percent the cost the municipality would incur if it were to bid the project. The Township will only be responsible for engineering costs, estimated at $5,000, and the construction in the Township right-of-way.

Further savings might be effected if the Township Public Works Department does some of this work itself, but Mr. Kiser warned that if the project gets delayed until the fall the Public Works Department would be too busy doing leaf pick-up.

Thus Committee was asked to appropriate the full $13,500 estimated for the Township portion of creating the new southern entrance to the Shopping Center, even though this total might be reduced later. The public hearing on the appropriations ordinance was set for Monday, July 13.

Lean Capital Budget

Committee also introduced several bond ordinances to implement the 1992 capital budget, with public hearings also set for July 13. They include $85,000 for equipment and other needs of Township agencies; $150,000 worth of items approved for joint agencies; and $110,000 for Township road improvements, including this year's oil and chip program. This comes to $345,000 total, the smallest authorization for capital projects in several years.

Mr. Glasberg voted against each of these bond ordinances. He said that if the state does not allocate the same amount in property tax relief as it did last year, some $435,000, he would want to take another look at the 1992 capital budget to see if anything more could be cut. His colleagues protested that the budget had been carefully gone over and was pretty lean.

Earlier in the evening, Mr. Glasberg led a 3-2 vote against a proposed $3.3 million bond issue that would convert some accumulated short-term notes into longer-term bonds. Committeewoman Ellen Souter and Committeeman Fred Porter also voted against. Mrs. Marchand's motion to hold the bond sale as proposed. Mayor Richard Woodbridge voted with Mrs. Marchand.

At issue is what will happen to interest rates in the coming year. Notes, which are issued periodically for capital projects, carry a 3 percent interest charge and have to be re-issued each year at a cost of $5,000, according to the Township's financial officer, Himanshu Shah. The interest rate on bonds under the Township's new AA-plus rating is at around 6 percent.

Six percent is historically low for municipal bonds, but it is twice three percent. If you think interest rates might be going up soon, you would want to take advantage of today's six percent. If you think, as Mr. Glasberg does, that interest rates are not going to go up, you would want to roll over these notes at the end of July when they are due. You might also want the Township to pay off some of the principal of the notes to further reduce the carrying costs.

The risk is that the Township isn't allowed to respond to the beginnings of an upswing in bond interest rates before the year is up. The rates could keep on climbing. Mr. Glasberg evidently had second thoughts about his vote to reject the bond sale, and at the end of Monday night's meeting asked Mr. Shah for a lot of information on short- and long-term indebtedness and the impact on the tax rate.

The matter will be raised again at Monday's meeting, when the whole issue of continuing to rent the Valley Road building or to build a new town hall will be the principal item of business.

IN NEED OF TLC: The missing door posts and poorly patched plaster are an indication of the renovations and repairs that are needed. The original stone house, dating back to about 1730 with later additions, was 30 feet square, with an adjoining stone kitchen. Later, a Georgian facade was imposed on the two early wings.

allow the Planning Board to require physical improvements to the house and to set the timetable for the improvements.

The amendments were introduced by Township Committee on first reading on June 15, with a public hearing and final adoption set for this Monday. Last week the amendments were approved by the Planning Board for recommendation to Committee for final adoption, a step required by the state Land Use Law.

At the time several Planning Board members agreed with Mr. Jamieson that there is confusion in the ordinance arising out of the use of the terms "preservation area" and "protection area." But all were aware that the Maybury Hill application is coming before the board on July 7, and that the house is in sad disrepair. They also knew that if the board is to have any ability to require improvements from the owner/developer, the amendments should be in effect before that date.

The ordinance as it is proposed to be amended requires the developer of a property in an historic preservation district to create an historic protection area around the historic features on the property. The protection area must include the principal structure and all of the other historic features on the property, and it must be of a size and configuration "sufficient to maintain the historic setting and historic character of the property."

A separate lot is to be created of the historic protection area, and the lot is to be deed restricted to prohibit further development except for uses, such as the putting up of a gazebo, that are "accessory to the principal use."

The sections of the ordinance that particularly apply to Maybury Hill include a list of requirements pertaining to any historic structure on the property. The ordinance requires that emergency repairs "sufficient to protect against deterioration of the structure," be undertaken, and that the structure be made "structurally sound," with proof that its electrical, plumbing and heating systems be in adequate working order and free of hazards.

Interior features "of historic significance," such as moldings, fireplace mantels, doors and fixtures may not be removed except for preservation purposes, and they must be put back. The ordinance also calls for the exterior to be landscaped with historic plantings "as found and with historically-appropriate plantings."

Finally, the Planning or Zoning Board, whichever has jurisdiction in the development application, may condition subdivision approval on these obligations being met, and it can establish a phasing plan setting forth when any repair work must be completed.

Overlook Park Dedication Ceremony

The historic overlook area along Route 206 that figured in the Battle of Princeton was dedicated to Princeton Township in a ceremony Monday afternoon.

As part of its development approval, Calton Homes was required to dedicate a strip of land believed to be the area from which British soldiers heading toward Trenton spotted Continental soldiers heading toward Princeton early on the morning of January 3, 1777. That sighting led to the Battle of Princeton, a major turning point in the Revolutionary War.

The 19-acre parcel contains a huge oak tree believed to have been standing at the time. Calton Homes discovered the tree in the course of surveying the property, and learning that it was at least as old as Mercer Oak in Battlefield Park, where the actual Battle of Princeton was fought, decided to call it Washington Oak. The development itself has been named Washington Oaks.

Township officials headed by Mayor Richard C. Woodbridge participated in the ceremony Monday afternoon at which the the 19-acre parcel was conveyed to the Township for a permanent park that will be called Overlook Park. Calton will allow public parking in the parking area that is now being used for its sales trailer and will create a path from the parking area to the historic tree, which stands in the middle of a hedgerow that will screen the housing development from the park itself.

Your mouth will say merci.

PSE&G Should Bury Lines Underground

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Kindly, you have heard from us before on the issue of 69,000-volt power lines that are proposed to run along a 31-mile stretch of residential roadways through Hopewell, Montgomery and Lawrence Townships, and other surrounding municipalities if the new PSE&G Class II Substation is approved on Hopewell-Princeton Road near the Mt. Rose intersection.

At this time the Hopewell Township Planning Board is close to making their decision, granting or denying PSE&G a conditional use variance for the substation.

We, the citizens of RAVE (Residents Against Voltage Encroachment) have joined together to express our sincere hope that the integrity of our properties as well as our safety and the aesthetic value of our area will be protected by a forthright, sensitive decision by the Planning Board.

Such an intrusion of a utility corridor into an area where children await buses, or sleep close to these lines is unprecedented in Mercer County and requires sensitivity and prudence by the Hopewell Planning Board.

Dr. Sills, a pediatrician who represented PSE&G's idea that there should certainly be nothing to worry about, was heard at the May 26 meeting. If a "sound bite" may be permitted here, we heard him say loud and clear; "SURE, there's a question."

"SURE, there's a question" as to whether or not exposure to levels of more than one milligauss of electro-magnetic radiation over a prolonged period of time could cause unhealthful effects in an unstable, growing system like a fetus, a child, or someone already affected by disease. The 1991 EPA review clearly states the possibility of this. The DOE has announced national public meetings this summer to address EMF precisely because there is "legitimate concern."

It's easy to say we don't know so we shouldn't do anything. That approach doesn't deplete anyone's pocketbook. Conversely, we all take precautions against possible imminent dangers. We wear helmets; we use seat belts; we unplug our electric blankets; our children are asked to sit away from the TV screen. We remember our uplifted faith in Johnson & Johnson when all the Tylenol products were removed from the market shelves at the company's expense.

To date PSE&G has done nothing to address our concerns. Their President has not responded to any of our letters. The viability of bundling wires has not been adequately addressed. PSE&G is forging ahead. They are apparently willing to do whatever is in their own interest in order to complete this project despite citizen concern.

SURE, there's a question. The question is who is going to take a stand on this. We, for one, feel the issue is clear. Recently a 69 KV line in Scranton, Pa. was relocated. So many cases of cancer were found along the line (only 3.5 miles long) that action was taken. The Mayor, Jim Connor, is still involved in disputes there.

If we listen to all the arguments, when it comes to health, safety, and property integrity, the real question is what should be done? We believe PSE&G should underground their lines as a responsible mitigation strategy for this project.

Many people, who think of themselves as safely away from the lines so as to be unaffected, will be surprised to find that the EMF from the fully loaded lines will extend as far as at least 300 feet. They will also find their property values decline substantially. Utility corridors will require at least 100 foot setbacks if 69 KV is allowed in residential areas.

Another meeting will take place Tuesday, June 23 at the Scotch Road office building at 7:30 p.m.

Schools Contracted with Y To Support Clubs Program

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter sent to Lisbeth A. Haines, M.D., 188 Jefferson Road:

I write to respond to the letter which you sent to me and to the local newspapers (TOWN TOPICS, June 17). I am sorry that you viewed as "inappropriate" our inclusion of the After School Club program in our brief review of desegregation grant initiatives.

Volunteers play a very important part in all areas of a community. The schools are especially grateful for the many ways in which parents and organizations volunteer their efforts in programs offered during and after school hours.

You perhaps were not aware that $8,000 of the grant funds were given by the school district to the YWCA under a special subcontract in which the Y agreed specifically to mobilize and manage community resources, people, programs, and other potential resources to the Princeton Regional Schools. You refer to the Y's administrative and program support in your letter (as you did in our conversation). That support was made possible at least in part by our Desegregation Grant.

Therefore, in accounting to the state for our distribution of funds under the Desegregation Grant, we included the disbursement of funds to the YWCA as well as a detailing of the use they, in turn, made of those funds.

I am very aware of the success of your program. In my visits to your Clubs, I have seen young people being inspired by the dedicated volunteers you and your colleagues brought together. You are making a real contribution to their lives, and I congratulate you for that.

I also congratulate Marge Smith and the Y for their very successful leadership in applying the grant funds so effectively in programs they initiated, managed or facilitated.

Many other volunteers have participated in the 20 or so programs funded by the Desegregation grant. A group of volunteers are working closely with Middle and High School students in mentoring and tutoring programs. The Family Math and Science Programs have been enriched by the participation of volunteers.

The application we are making for renewal of the Desegregation Grant acknowledges fully the significant contributions made by volunteers. Either through the contract with the Y, the contract with Corner House, or directly through administrators and teachers in the Princeton Regional Schools, many members of our community participated in one or more of the programs and touched the lives of children in our schools.

Our thanks go to them for their efforts. We are pleased to have been able to help them direct their energies to the children, either directly or, as in the case of your program, indirectly through the YWCA.

The Institute Woods and Fields Are the Legacy of Oswald Veblen

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am grateful to Dr. Phillip A. Griffiths, Director of the Institute for Advanced Study, for his moving, eloquent letter in the June 17 TOWN TOPICS that reiterates the fact that the Institute is "one of the most effective conservators of land in the history of Princeton" in acquiring and preserving the over 500 acres of open land along Quaker Road and the Institute Woods — "none of it donated."

This is truly an impressive historically unique priceless contribution to the regional welfare.

It therefore may interest readers to know that this sylvan retreat and resource was largely the vision of one of the Institute's brilliant faculty, Oswald Veblen (now deceased), a great mathematician (a geometer, as is Dr. Griffiths, I believe).

Prof. Veblen believed, in the tradition of his native England, that hiking in fresh air across open fields was an essential ingredient to deep thinking. And because of this belief, we owe not only the selection of the Institute's acreage but also the Mercer County (formerly called Veblen) Arboretum off Snowden, a delicious forest of about 90 acres.

Prof. Veblen was so influential because, according to an Institute publication, A Community of Scholars, he was one of the Institute's first two appointments, Einstein being the other!

In the Foreword by Dr. Harry Woolf, who was the Director at that time (1980), it states Prof. Veblen was brought to Princeton University in 1905 by a person of vision and ideals: Woodrow Wilson, the Princeton University President then.

There's so much more to the story of Oswald Veblen's greatness and vision, but we are losing the people who know it best, e.g., Dr. Hassler Whitney who died last year, and Dr. Deane Montgomery, who died last month.

According to Harry Woolf, Prof. Veblen was instrumental in choosing the Institute's mathematics faculty including Einstein and Montgomery. Others were Alexander, Morse, von Neumann and Weyl — mathematical immortals all!

Like so many who have gone by, in Veblen's work, life and his legacy to us, we see the proof of greatness.

CARL FAITH
199 Longview Drive

Prof. Faith was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study in 1960-62, a visitor in 1973-74 and 1977-78, and presently an Associate Member of the Institute. He is a Professor of Mathematics at Rutgers University.

Dangerous Intersection At Linden and Hamilton

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This is a letter to the residents of Princeton, in particular to those who live in the Linden Lane, Hamilton Avenue neighborhood:

The June traffic committee meeting was moved from June 24 to June 17 and we missed submitting the traffic count. However, I spoke to Leo Arons, who chaired Wednesday's meeting, and he assured me that this corner is in the forefront of their concerns. There are no moves to erect a traffic light or any additional signage there, and the best hope for safety is to enforce the 25 mph speed limit.

The police have increased their presence there and will continue monitoring the speed at which people whiz along the avenue. The overriding concern is that traffic is not stopped when traveling on Hamilton, but that the traffic moves at the speed limit.

I urge you, if you have any new ideas about the corner, to submit them to a member of the traffic and transportation committee. I also strongly caution you to educate your children about the dangers of that corner. Parents of children who ride bikes there, who skateboard there, who rollerblade there, who run along there, please ask your children to be careful. Remind them that if they are traveling down Linden to Hamilton and do not slow down considerably, they risk injury by slipping or sliding into the traffic flow of Hamilton.

I also ask the 7,000 people who travel those two routes throughout the day to be careful, stay within the speed limit, and be aware that the children who live in that area are active, rambunctious, curious, and feel invulnerable. Please look out for them.

Do Legislators Represent You or the NRA Lobby?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Thankfully your TOWN TOPICS Trenton Round-up (June 3) that informed us of the Assembly's repeal of the ban on semi-automatic weapons has also attracted public discussion of this vital issue.

In refuting our appeal (Mailbox, June 10) to maintain the current ban on sale or ownership of military assault weapons in this state, William Farley (Mailbox, June 17) is probably correct in stating that senators he contacted who kept a tally report public response favored repeal.

While naming Senator Zane, however, Mr. Farley didn't mention that as sponsor of S-700, Zane received $10,000 last September from the National Rifle Association for his election "war chest." Called the NRA Victory Fund, this highly organized gun lobby invested almost a quarter of a million dollars in the election of our legislators to ensure "Victory."

State law enforcement officers and the Attorney oppose S-700. The NRA is committed. We, the people, are not organized or barely aware.

Now the budget crisis and its effect on jobs and programs occupy the headlines. Did the Legislature plan this late maneuver so, like the magician Doug Hemmings, they can divert attention while the NRA gun lobby passes its bill when we're not following that action?

Though our Senator, Dick LaRossa at 771-0330, did receive NRA funds, call and ask if he represents you or the Washington-based NRA. The state survey line at 292-5199 will also register your vote.

100 Visitors from Pettoranello, Italy Will Arrive Monday For Week-Long Sister-City Celebration with Princeton

A banner will go up across Nassau Street this Wednesday heralding the arrival of 100 residents of Pettoranello, Italy, on Monday.

It will say "Welcome to Our Guests from Pettoranello" in Italian and English, and it will remain in place throughout the weeklong visit that has been arranged as the first phase of the Princeton-Pettoranello Sister City celebration. In August, some 50 Princeton residents, including Township Mayor Richard Woodbridge and former Mayors Kate Litvack and Phyllis Marchand, will travel to Pettoranello to continue the celebration of the special relationship between the two towns.

The events planned for the the visits are in recognition of the fact that for 140 years there has been an almost continuous interchange between the little village principality of Pettoranello di Molisi, a hilltop town north of Naples and southeast of Rome, and Princeton.

In search of work, better living or at the invitation of relatives, Pettoranello citizens have emigrated to Princeton in waves. Some have returned to their home town after living here for a time, but they have left progeny here, and over the years there has been an accumulation of citizens and descendants now numbering more than 3,000 people.

The celebration, as envisioned by the Pettoranello Sister City Committee, honors the sacrifice and determination of the people of Pettoranello and its environs to make a better life for themselves and their families. Hardworking, and possessing talents as masons, stonecutters, gardeners and woodcarvers, they have made an enduring contribution to the physical beauty of Princeton and to the diversity of the community.

Nick Carnevale

In that spirit, a hardworking and extraordinarily dedicated group of Princeton area residents headed by Nicholas Carnevale has been working for 14 months to make arrangements for the upcoming sister city visit, which will include an official delegation of the mayor of Pettoranello, Antonio Camillo Paolino, and members of the town council and their spouses, the mayor of nearby Isernia and possibly the governor of the province. The group will arrive Monday evening at the Nassau Inn. The Princeton-Pettoranello Committee has arranged for buses to pick them up at Kennedy Airport and bring them to Princeton.

Most of the group will be staying at the Nassau Inn, where they will find elaborate welcome kits prepared by a subcommittee. Some will be staying in private homes. According to Mr. Carnevale, about 30 of the Pettoranello residents coming have relatives here, including the Pettoranello mayor.

International Trade

On Tuesday morning, there will be breakfast meetings for two special delegations within the group, while everyone else adjusts to the time change and rests up for the hectic days ahead. Some 14 businessmen will have breakfast and a meeting on international trade opportunities at the Institute for Advanced Study. Philip Ferzan, international trade commissioner for the State of New Jersey, will be the speaker, and Mercer County representatives are also expected to be on hand. Allen Rowe, assistant director of the Institute, and Richard Bilotti, publisher of The Times, a Trenton newspaper, are in charge of the arrangements.

Meanwhile, a group of physicians will have breakfast and a tour of Princeton Medical Center, followed by meetings and exchange of information on medical technology that will continue into the afternoon. Princeton Medical Center President Dennis Doody heads the subcommittee for this gathering.

At noon Tuesday, Nicholas Carnevale will host a group of the visitors at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon at the Nassau Inn. That evening the City of Trenton has offered to give the entire group a tour of the State House and other sights in Trenton, followed by dinner at an Italian restaurant in Chambersburg.

Wednesday, July 1, will be the first official day of the visit. Mayor Woodbridge will host a continental breakfast at the Township municipal offices for the official delegation, followed by a meeting at which the similarities of the two municipalities are likely to be discussed. At 11 the group will be bused to Nassau Hall, where they will be greeted by University officials. There will be an exchange of gifts, a reception, and a light lunch in Chancellor Green Hall.

That afternoon, the visitors will be taken to Battlefield Park, where there will be a mini-reenactment of the Battle of Princeton, narrated by Tristam Johnson with translation into Italian. The Blawenburg Band will play, and the mayors will place wreaths at the gravesite of British and American soldiers.

These activities will be followed by another reception on the Princeton University campus, this one at the top of Fine Hall, with its panoramic view, and a barbecue dinner at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club.

On Thursday, July 2, there will be a bus trip to Washington D.C. for the Pettoranello visitors and friends. Carmen Prezioso, Princeton High School language teacher who guided the very successful Princeton High School Choir visit to Pettoranello and Colmar, will be the tour guide for this trip, assisted by Ugo Rossi, a Spanish teacher in the school system. The trip may include a guided tour of the White House arranged by State Sen. Richard

LaRossa, whose mother is from the Pettoranello area.

Friday, July 3, will begin with the dedication of the Sister City shelves in the Princeton Public Library at 10 a.m., a look at the Pettoranello antiquities exhibit now on view, and a short tour of the Library. The Princeton-Pettoranello Committee has already given some 30 or 40 books in Italian to these shelves, and the visitors are expected to bring another 100, on topics such as history, archaeology and art.

Scholorships for Italian

According to Mr. Carnevale, this collection of books is part of a legacy that the Committee expects to continue long after the visits are concluded. Another aspect of this legacy is the creation of the Princeton Pettoranello Foundation, with Mr. Carnevale as president, which will endow scholarships for people who want to learn Italian, particularly those who need short-term language immersion for business or other purposes.

The noon hours on Friday, July 3, are left open for lunch and shopping. At three the visitors will walk over to Nassau Hall, where the Historical Society of Princeton will conduct a walking tour of historic Princeton. After a one-hour rest, a bus tour of the historic areas of the Borough and Township will be offered, with Clotilde Treves narrating and translating.

That night, starting at 8, a gala banquet will take place at the Nassau Inn. Some 250 people are expected to attend, and tickets were all sold as of last week. There will be speeches and declarations by state and county officials. Ribboned medals, with the Princeton Township seal with Mercer Oak on one side and the Pettoranello seal on the other, will be presented to the officials in the delegation, with individual medals going to all the participants.

An American eagle fashioned in the Boehme ceramics factory in Trenton will also be presented and will ultimately be placed in the Pettoranello town hall. On Saturday, July 4, festivities begin at 11:30 at Community Park North, where the amphitheater and pond area will be dedicated as the "Pettoranello Gardens."

All spring a group of landscape gardeners, including Raffael Carnevale, Nick Ciccone, Mike Ciccone, Corrado Ciccone, Luciano Procaccini, Almirindo Sferra, Ted Tamasi, Sam Tamasi, Bill Perna, Tony Tamasi and Frank Perone, have been busily clearing the area of overgrowth and replanting flowering bushes and trees according to a plan by Mark Samse, landscape architect with CUH2A.

A bronze plaque will be installed on a big boulder, dedicating the gardens "To the Italian families who have emeigrated from Pettoranello di Molisi, Italy, and its neighboring provinces for over 100 years" and pointing out that "These families and their descendants have enriched our community with their values, expertise and culture."

Umberto Perna has been in charge of the landscape committee. Mr. Carnevale says he hopes the Pettoranello Gardens will be used for flower shows, and that the pond, where the Committee hopes to install a bubbler or some biodegradeable material that will cut down the algae bloom, will be used for model boat races. The refurbished Pettoranello Gardens are also part of the living memorial the Princeton-Pettoranello Committee seeks to establish as a legacy of this visit.

4th of July Picnic

The public is invited to the dedication, and to the huge Fourth of July Picnic at Mountain Lakes Reserve that will follow. There will be the usual hot dogs and hamburgers, as well as balloons, clowns, a puppet show and music by the Dixieland Band and Princeton High School singing groups. Admission is $5 per adult, $3 per child at the door, with food sold separately.

At 5 p.m. the visitors will return to the Nassau Inn to rest. At 7:30 they will be bused to Mercer County Park for the pops concert by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and the Nassau Inn. A trip to New York City is planned for Sunday, July 5, including a paddle boat tour around Manhattan, and a bus trip to see sights such as the United Nations, Rockefeller Center, St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Empire State Building, Little Italy and the Wall Street area. Linda Prospero and Evie Gargione are the tour guides for this trip.

Some of the Pettoranello visitors are going on to Niagara Falls from New York City. Those who are not will return to Princeton. On Monday, July 6, there will be a continental breakfast and farewells at 9 a.m. before the bus departs for the airport and the return trip to Pettoranello.

The entire visit will be videotaped by Henry Brandi, a member of the Committee who has also videotaped the fund-

The Princeton/Pettoranello Connection

If you think of the northern Italian city of Turin as Maine, and Sicily as Florida, Pettoranello is Wilmington, Del., in the northernmost part of southern Italy. That's how Nicholas Carnevale describes Pettoranello's location in relation to Princeton's. He adds that Princeton also has had had a reputation of being America's northernmost southern town.

Pettoranello (the name means hill crest) sits on a little mountain 3,000 feet above sea level in the Molisi province. A largely residential community of fewer than 500 inhabitants, it is surrounded by Isernia, the provincial capital, the way Princeton Borough is surrounded by Princeton Township, only Isernia's population is 33,000.

According to Mr. Carnevale, there had been a strong feeling in the last 50 years or so that northern Italy received all the economic benefits. During the last major earthquake, the government decided it was time to pump money into the near south. Accordingly, it accumulated pieces of land for industrial sites that were sold to private business interests.

The area now has a major casual clothes manufacturer that employes 3,000 people, a men's suit manufacturer, a candy factory and a glass plant. This has resulted in fewer emigrants in the last 15 or 20 years, but starting in the late 1800s and continuing in waves that were particularly strong in the early part of the 20th century and during the 1930s and the 1950s, there was a more or less continuous outpouring of people from the Pettoranello region to Princeton.

They found work here on buildings going up at Princeton University. Some worked in the stone quarries and terra cotta factories, still others built elaborate gardens in the European style at the manor estates that encircled Princeton.

Not readily integrated into Princeton society, they stuck together, worked hard, held fast to family and personal values, bought property and became proprietors of their own businesses. Today their descendants are college graduates, successful as accountants, architects, engineers, insurance salesmen, lawyers, teachers, dentists, restaurant and gas station owners.

In addition to Mr. Carnevale, who is retired chairman and co-owner of Walter B. Howe commercial real estate and insurance firm, some others whose names are well known in town are Rose Nini, dean of students at Mercer County Community College; Antonio Pirone, architect with CUH2A, chairman of the board of trustees of The Hun School, and chairman of the Princeton-Pettoranello Sister Cities Committee; Ralph Pirone, assistant financial officer at McGraw Hill; Joseph Nini, Township administrator for many years; and Tony Nini, who owned and operated Nini Chrysler-Plymouth for many years along with a successful career as a horse breeder.

Former Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale held a master's degree in sociology and criminology. His parents owned and operated the Annex Restaurant before Henry and Lou Carnevale took it over. Frank Perna was the very successful owner-operator of South's Garage, and the Stelfanellis and Lieggis also owned and operated successful gas station/auto repair shops.

"These people, if not ignored [by the rest of Princeton] were certainly not noticed," Nicholas Carnevale says. "And yet they have done extraordinarily well as a body. They have lived the American dream and made it successful. They made it work. Whether it was the right time when they came over, or the age span that was just right, they have been inordinately successful."

The upcoming Princeton-Pettoranello visits and the auxiliary activities are to celebrate that success and all that went into making it possible.

Techniques of Estate Preservation and Protection

Speaker: Steven L. Friedman, Esq.

Monday, June 29 • 12:15 p.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Planning an estate has taken on a sense of urgency as the traditional concerns of the past are affected by the problems of the 90's.

This seminar will discuss:

- an overview of the Federal and State Transfer Tax structures
- planning options available to simultaneously minimize the effects of both death taxes and the cost of nursing care
- the impact of the rising cost of long term care on planning opportunities

Location: Stark & Stark Community Room, 993 Lenox Drive, Lawrenceville, NJ

Fee: $15 per person includes light lunch raisers, lectures and meetings leading up to the visit, with the idea of creating a permanent documentary on the exchange. Italian television will be on hand to tape highlights of the visit to be broadcast in Italy while the delegation is here.

In addition to the individual medals, the visitors will each be given T-shirts and a keepsake journal or ad book of 40 or 50 pages. Lydia Pirone is in charge of this project, along with Kate Litvack, Rose Nini and Priscilla Snow Algava. All in all there are 41 committees that have been working on various aspects of arranging for this visit. They range from accounting and legal liaison in setting up the Princeton Pettoranello Foundation, Mario Tamasi, chairman, to welcoming kits, Henry Brandi, Marjorie Carnevale and Alessandra Mazzucato.

There is a committee for each event as well as a committee whose main function is to see to it that the visitors are comfortable and can find their way around and another that oversees the storage of T-shirts, medals, etc. at the Nassau Inn. The executive committee headed by Mr. Carnevale and heads of the subcommittees have been been meeting steadily for the past two years, initially once a month and in the last few weeks on an almost daily basis. Dominick and Adele Tamasi were committee coordinators.

Mr. Carnevale says the Township and the police of both municipalities have been very cooperative. He especially credits Township Mayor Woodbridge with giving a lot of time and attention to the project. The group held several fundraisers, including a brunch at the Annex Restaurant, and a wine and cheese reception at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, and a dinner at Barrone's restaurant in Trenton. It also sponsored two very successful slide lectures on Pettoranello at the Public Library.

Some $40,000 to $50,000 have been raised thus far. Some of it will be used for the expenses of the visit; the balance will go toward scholarships when the Princeton-Pettoranello Sister City Committee becomes the Princeton Pettoranello Foundation.

Return Visit

About 50 Princeton residents are expected to visit Pettoranello August 11 to 16. The itinerary for that visit is filled with visits to historic sites and a factory, a fashion show, a parade, theatrical performances, popular games, folk music and dancing, fireworks, wreath laying and the renaming of Via Calvario Via Princeton. The visit coincides with the Feast of the Assumption, a major holiday, and culminates in a Mass and procession, followed by lunch in homes of Pettoranello families.

To Mr. Carnevale, the relationship between these two towns epitomizes the American dream, and he hopes that after the events here and in Pettoranello, there will be a greater appreciation and understanding between the two cultures and about their histories. "We will also leave behind a living memorial in an enhanced Pettoranello Gardens, a library of information and history on central Italy, a scholarship to further future exchanges, and, hopefully, a further impetus for following generations to remember their origins and the hopes and aspirations held for them by their progenitors."

Prostate Problems?

Trouble urinating? You may have BPH.

One out of three men over 50 have it. One out of two men over 70 have it.

An enlarged prostate gland may mean you have BPH—benign prostate hyperplasia.

If you are between 50 and 75 years old and:

- ☐ have trouble urinating
- ☐ urinate often
- ☐ stop and start several times while urinating
- ☐ have trouble putting off urinating

you could have BPH.

If you do have BPH, you may be able to take part in a clinical research trial for an investigational new drug. There are no internal medical procedures other than collection of a blood sample periodically.

ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH
with Sam deTuro

YOU CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT THIS MACHINE

An incredible machine exists in your garden — a machine that filters dust, gobbles up air pollutants and produces oxygen. This machine acts as an air conditioner, cooling you in summer and keeping you warmer in winter. It also anchors the soil and prevents erosion. Not only does this machine do all of the above, but it is also one of the most aesthetically pleasing things on this earth, and has inspired artists and poets to extoll its many virtues.

Depending on its type, this machine changes colors during the year and produces food that people and animals can eat. It even produces its own food and reproduces itself!!! This machine has also been known to provide homes for birds and animals and can be made into homes for people or turned into other products such as the paper you are reading. By now you have probably guessed this amazing machine is a "TREE."

Without trees, life on earth would be impossible. Trees absorb carbon dioxide pollutants and give back oxygen. In fact one acre of healthy trees can absorb six tons of carbon dioxide and produce four tons of oxygen in just one year! Trees give off tremendous amounts of water and cool the air on hot summer days. And trees and shrubs shield homes from cold winter winds.

Trees are so common, it's easy to take them for granted and assume they can exist without our help. Unfortunately, that is not always true for trees in the urban environment. Like any living thing, trees need periodic health care — fertilizing, pruning, spraying for harmful insects and treatment for injury and disease.

Woodwinds provides professional expertise in all areas of ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH SERVICES, including the care of your valuable trees and shrubs. When your trees require fertilizing, pruning, our IPM services or treatment for injury, do give the Professional Arborists a call at 924-3500.

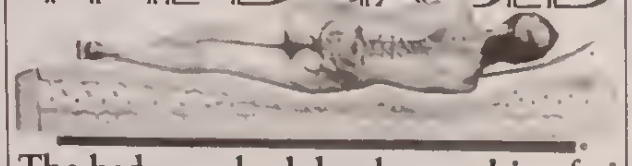
THE DUX BED



The bed your back has been aching for.

For years you've been told that a firm bed is better for your back.

Well, in Sweden, the people who make the Dux Bed have proven otherwise. They've proven that a firm bed resists, rather than conforms to, the position of the body. So the body must constantly adjust in order to get comfortable.

Small wonder people wake up tired. And with backaches.

The Dux Bed is designed to help eliminate back problems and give you a more restful night's sleep.

It has two layers of innersprings instead of the usual one.

The upper layer moulds itself to the contours of your body, allowing your spine to lie straight.

The bottom layer acts as a buffer against harsh movement, and provides firm support.

So come in and try the Dux Bed. Lie in it; take a nap.

You're going to love it.

Your back will, too.

Summer Theater Not Quite Up to Demands Of Suspenseful Classic, 'Dial M for Murder'

THE PLOT THICKENS: Frightened husband and wife, played by Matt Grayson and Holly Frantz, confront the indomitable Inspector Hubbard (Lamis B. Faris) as she attempts to unravel a tangled web of deception in Princeton Summer Theater's Dial M. For Murder on stage at the Murray Theater over the next two weekends.

News of the THEATRES

Frederick Knott's Dial M for Murder is a stylish masterpiece of a murder mystery — mostly quiet on the surface, but fraught with slowly-building suspense, complex character motivations and surprising twists and turns in the plot.

Alfred Hitchcock's 1954 movie of Dial M, starring Ray Milland and Grace Kelly, set a towering, unforgettable standard for production of this sophisticated classic thriller, and Princeton Summer Theater's young, uneven company must inevitably suffer by comparison in its opening show of the 1992 season at Murray Theater.

Under the direction of Michael Sattler, a recent Princeton University graduate and director of Deathtrap and The Mousetrap at Murray Theater during the past year, the PST cast and crew vary widely in their levels of experience and their abilities to muster the requisite style and sophistication to bring off this complex melodrama.

Implausibly loud doorbells and phone rings, along with some timing problems and occasional distracting offstage thumps during last Friday's performance, more than once upset the timing and dispelled the carefully wrought mood and tension of this production.

The five basic motives for a murder are "fear, jealousy, money, revenge and protecting someone you love," the character Max Halliday, an American TV mystery writer, explains early in the play. And we see all these motives and more in action as the intrigues swirl through the six scenes of Dial M for Murder.

Updated effectively — in costume, set and a number of details in the script — from its original 1952 Broadway incarnation, the play becomes a "yuppie murder mystery" set in London of the present day.

Elaborate Scheme

It is the story of an aging ex-tennis star, Tony Wendice, played by Matt Grayson, and his wealthy wife, Margot (Holly Frantz), whom he married for money and plans to murder for the same reason. "I've learned to pay a big price for anything I really want," he says. "I usually get it." Max, Margot's American lover played by Richard Kaye, becomes a part of Tony's elaborate scheme of romance and death, as does the seasoned criminal Captain Lesgate (David Violi).

Scotland Yard's Inspector Hubbard (Lamis B. Faris), successfully transformed from traditionally dressed male sleuth of the original production into a flamboyantly attired woman, enters the scene midway through the second of three acts to take charge of unraveling the tangled strands of plotting. Steve Levin as Sergeant Thompson assists in a walk-on role in the final scene.

Ms. Faris, as the veteran performer of the company, makes major contributions towards focusing the production and keeping the elaborate plot clear, clean and comprehensible to the audience. "A thriller," Mr. Sattler observes in his director's note, "demands your intellectual participation as you, too, create the tension the scene demands by constantly questioning," and, as the Inspector, Ms. Faris accompanies us in that endeavor with poise, flair and some of that remarkable style that characterized the Alfred Hitchcock movie and its distinguished cast.

Though the rest of the cast, and its less than punctilious crew, has difficulty keeping up with the lofty demands of this finely crafted classic, the company is solidly competent, and this production does indeed lay out the plot clearly (no small feat!), engages its audience in the labyrinths of the characters' devious machinations and stimulates the audience's emotions and intellect.

Technical Director Jeff Glasse, assisted by the director, designed the unit set representing the Wendice's apartment — abundant in detail, but a bit cluttered and shabby for the purported elegance of this rich heiress and her social-climbing husband.

Dial M for Murder, the first of Princeton Summer Theater 1992's three offerings, will be playing at the Murray Theater on the Princeton University campus over the next two weekends, June 25 to 28 and July 2 to 4, with all performances at 8 p.m. Two popular comedies will follow, Run for Your Wife in mid-July and Crimes of the Heart in mid-August. Call 258-4950 for reservations and more information. —Donald Gilpin

Double Features Due At Kresge Auditorium

McCarter Theatre's 16th annual Summer Cinema season at airconditioned Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical Building on Washington Road will open on Thursday with a double-feature attraction of Jonathan Demme's The Silence of the Lambs and Henri-Georges Clouzot's The Wages of Fear.

The series will offer 52 double-feature programs — 36 titles in all — for 10 weeks, through Sunday, August 30. A discount coupon book — priced at $40 for ten double-feature admissions — is available throughout the season, and is now on sale at both the McCarter Theatre box office and at Kresge Auditorium at showtimes. Single evening admission is $5 and goes on sale one-half hour prior to showtime, subject to availability.

Summer Cinema '92 will offer a wide variety of classics, both old and new, from the USA, and other nations. Directors who will be represented during the course of the series include Bernardo Bertolucci, Jonathan Demme, Pedro Almodovar, Franco Zeffirelli, Peter Greenaway, Martha Coolidge, and Louis Malle.

A brochure giving complete season details, including dates, showtimes and notes on each program, is now available from the McCarter Theatre box office, or may be obtained by calling McCarter at 683-8000.

The opening double-feature headlines Jonathan Demme's 1991 Academy award-winning suspense thriller The Silence of the Lambs, based on the best-selling novel of the same name. The heart of the movie lies in the cerie and complex relationship between the heroic, FBI trainee Clarice Starling (Jodie Foster) and the cannibalistic shrink, Dr. Hannibal (the Cannibal) Lechter (Anthony Hopkins), a depraved genius with near omnipotent insight into the minds of other serial killers.

The co-feature, The Wages of Fear, starring a young Yves Montand, is Henri-Georges Clouzot's nerve-shattering suspense melodrama and existential art film that won the 1953 Best Picture prizes at Cannes, Berlin and London. When it was initially released in the USA, 43 minutes of footage was cut to shorten it for the American "art house" audiences, and to remove everything that might offend American audiences in the Eisenhower era, including anti-corporate sentiments and scenes of Third World squalor. These "lost" minutes have been restored to the version which will be shown at Summer Cinema.

Summer Cinema's second week of double features will open on Tuesday, June 30, with My Father's Glory/My Mother's Castle, a double-header from the pen of the late French author and filmmaker Marcel Pagnol. Based on Pagnol's Memories of Childhood, written when he was in his sixties, this two-film magical memory trip takes a vacation from fatalism and solemnity, locating its radiance in the bosom of an ordinary bourgeois family. Adapted and directed by Yves Robert, they both say that life in turn-of-the-century Provence, as filtered through Pagnol's art, can be beguiling and beautiful.

The Rest of the Schedule

In subsequent weeks, Summer Cinema's double-bills will combine such titles as John Singleton's Boyz 'N the Hood" and Mira Nair's Salaam Bombay; Alan Parker's The Commitments and Rob Reiner's This is Spinal Tap; Pedro Almodovar's Tie Me

PHS Graduate Will Play At Joe's Mill Hill Saloon

Saxophonist Marc McDonald will appear this Saturday at Joe's Mill Hill Saloon in Trenton.

Mr. McDonald, who grew up in Princeton and is a 1979 PHS graduate, recently returned from a five-month stay in Hawaii where he was a member of the house orchestra of the luxury cruise ship SS Constitution. At the Mill Hill Saloon, Mr. McDonald's group will perform a mixture of jazz standards and original compositions, including some new material written in Hawaii.

Marc McDonald

Joining him on the 20th will be bassist Wilbo Wright, drummer Tom Poitras and Scottish pianist Richard Thompson. This will be the Trenton debut of Thompson, who is currently serving as jazz pianist Kenny Barron's teaching assistant at Rutgers University.

The trio will return on the 27th, joined by Jim Ridl on piano and Pat Wristen on trumpet.

Joe's Mill Hill Saloon is located at Broad and Market Streets in Trenton. Sets begin at 8:30.

Opera Festival's "The Merry Widow" Is Fresh & Mesmerizing

The Opera Festival of New Jersey (formerly June Opera Festival) has frequently presented comic opera as one of its offerings during the month-long season, often as a balance to a more serious opera offering. However, the Opera Festival of New Jersey has chosen this year to open its season with one of the best-known of lighter operatic fares: Franz Lehar's The Merry Widow. Directed by Francis J. Cullinan and conducted by Michael Pratt, this production will not only "warm up" Princeton area audiences for Saturday's opening of Madame Butterfly, but will also stand on its own as a solidly presented operatic work.

Part of the magic of this year's Festival presentation is undoubtedly in the visual effects of the set design. The sets, designed by Lee Maynian, USA, and apparently provided by Tri-Cities Opera, bathe each act in a different color scheme. The first act opens on hues of deep reds and rose, while the second focuses on shades of purple and the third on sherbet colors. Together with Richard St. Clair's elegant and stylistic costumes, the sets create a warm and inviting salon atmosphere.

Conductor Michael Pratt established the musical ambiance of light operetta from the opening overture, with a definite hint that something silly was in the making. The accompanying Concerto Soloists Chamber Orchestra are known for precision playing, and there was little effort wasted in accompanying the singers through the Viennese intricacies of the score. With a tremendous amount of spoken dialogue, this opera needs exact pacing and the accurate musical direction kept the audience's attention riveted to the stage. The lilting flow of the operetta was maintained by both the stage direction and the music direction, which was paced in such a way that all the clever rhymes of the texts were clear.

The Opera Festival artistic staff chose light voices for this production, which at first seemed to be out of balance with the orchestra but in the second and third acts served to keep the music just out of reach of the audience, so that no one dared turn away. Gary Aldrich, as Baron Mirko Zeta, the Marsovian Ambassador to Paris, needed a variety of skills for his role, including singing, comic theatrics, and dancing, all of which were well displayed.

As his wife, Valencienne, soprano Jill Blalock was a good vocal and theatrical balance to the soprano who eventually dominates the action of the opera: Madame Hanna Glawari, portrayed by Sharon Daniels. Madame Glawari, who has apparently inherited the majority of her mythical country's wealth, is a widow of elegance and stylish compassion with the ability to draw men to her like bees to the honeypot, seemingly in oblivious naivete. Ms. Daniels' voice flowed with ease throughout the opera, and brought the familiar tunefulness of the Lehar score to life with appealing style.

Tenor Fred Love, as Camille de Rosillon, presented a very light tenor style, suitable to that of a French lover full of romantic ideas and intrigue. As Prince Danilo Danilovitch, the heir to the Marsovian throne and the cause of much of the comic tension of the opera, Bruce Brown portrayed a clean-cut, preppy character who obviously had no intention of ever working a day in his life.

Large Cast

The opera has a large cast of supporting characters, including Njegus, portrayed by Christopher Clarke, and the omnipresent Bogdonovitch and Kromov, played by Martin Hargrove and Craig Denison, respectively.

Another notable set of characters were not singers at all, but the members of Teamwork Dance, who provided energetic and gymnastic dance sequences under the direction of their choreographer, Mary Pat Robertson. These dancers staged scenes ranging from elegant ballroom to risque can-can dances in Maxim's.

The Merry Widow is full of well-known tunes, which in the wrong hands (or voices) could be tedious and uninspired. However, in the case of the two most renowned melodies from this opera, "Meine Lippen, sie kuessen so heiss" and the "Vilia" song, their presentations were fresh and mesmerizing, prompting a bit of humming along from the audience.

The Opera Festival of New Jersey will continue its series with the opening of Puccini's Madame Butterfly on Saturday. A number of the performers from The Merry Widow have also been cast in Butterfly, indicating the depth of talent which the company has drawn this year. As this company heads toward the end of its first decade, it has clearly become a first-rate opera festival for audiences in New Jersey.

Ticket information can be obtained by calling 936-1505.

Bigger Thomas Band To Play at Shopping Ctr.

The Princeton Shopping Center will present a free concert Saturday from 12 to 2 by Bigger Thomas, a band of eight members whose music has its roots in the Jamaican ska music of the '60s, the predecessor of reggae.

Formed in 1989 by guitarist Steve Parker and bassist Marc Wasserman, the current band includes Kevin Shields and Sean Moore (trumpets), Michael Bailey (trombone), guest saxophone Dave Homan, drummer John Dibianco, and lead vocal/keyboardist Jim Allington. Based in the Princeton/New Brunswick area, the band has performed throughout the East Coast and Canada with recording acts such as Burning Spear, Yellowman, Jimmy Cliff, Skatalites, KRS 1 and Boogie Down Productions.

While initially influenced by ska, the band's music has grown to include other Third World music such as reggae, calypso and world beat. These genres are evident in their latest recording, M' Boy Y' know, a six-song EP which includes a dance-hall version of the "Archies" classic Sugar, Sugar.

The concert will take place in the courtyard. For more information, call 921-6234.

All-Chopin Piano Music And All-Russian Program

The Rutgers SummerFest concerts this week will focus on the music of Chopin and the music of three Russian composers: Rachmaninoff, Shostakovich and Alfred Schnittke.

SummerFest's annual piano gala, a multiple keyboard extravaganza, will feature an all-Chopin program on Thursday. The lineup of pianists consists of Ilana Vered, Tanya Slam-

N.J. Scholars To Help Staff 1992 Pops Concert

This year's Princeton Pops Concert will have a new group of volunteer helpers — 39 young men and women from the New Jersey Scholars Program who will direct traffic, park cars, run concessions and take tickets.

The annual July 4 pops concert by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, which includes fireworks, will raise funds to provide free concerts for 4,000 school children as part of the NJSO's educational programs. Susan Robinson, Scott Hoerl and Carlette Winslow, who are in charge of arrangements for the 1992 event, say they welcome these young scholars who will work alongside members of the Princeton/Mercer Chapter of the New Jersey Symphony League board of directors and Westminster Conservatory students and parents.

The New Jersey Scholars Program, designed for highly motivated high school juniors, is based at the Lawrenceville School for the summer. They will function as a junior committee for the pops concert which will be held in Mercer Park, West Windsor.

Gates will open for the event at 5 p.m. on Saturday, July 4. Tickets will cost $5 general admission in advance, $7 at the gate. Children under 12 will be admitted at $2 per child.

Patron tickets are available for $100 for four concert tickets, four dinners at the park skating rink catered by the Olive Garden Restaurant, VIP parking pass and designated seating for the concert.

Tickets may be purchased at Davidson's, the Princeton University Store and the Palmer Square kiosk in Princeton; Titles Unlimited in the Princeton Shopping Center and Rocky Hill, Ellsworth's Wine and Liquor in Princeton Junction; Carduner's Liquor in West Windsor; Foodtown in Rocky Hill, Nuts, Etc ! in Pennington, and Hopewell House in Hopewell.

For information call Westminster Conservatory of Music, 921-7104.

Folk Music Evening At Watershed Ass'n.

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association will sponsor an evening of folk music with song writer/singer Tom Gala and guitarist Richard Drueding on Saturday.

The performance will take place at the Stony Brook Coffeehouse, held in the Stony Brook Gallery of the Buttinger Center. Fresh acoustic music is featured monthly, usually the fourth Saturday of the month. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. and music begins at 8. Space is limited.

Admission is $5 for adults, $1 for children. Refreshments are available for a small fee. Bring your own cup, if possible. For further information call the Education Office at 737-7592.

NEW EAGLE SCOUTS: Francis Franze, left, and Brent Breithaupt receive congratulations from Boy Scout Troop 43 Scoutmaster Frank Fornoff at the Court of Honor held at Nassau Presbyterian Church, where they received their awards. Mr. Franze and his helpers spent more than 150 hours cleaning and marking trails in the Autumn Hills Reservation in Princeton Township. Mr. Breithaupt, with his helpers, constructed and installed 32 bird and bat houses at the Mountain Lakes Nature Center, also in the Township.

Clubs and Organizations

The Princeton Soroptimist Club has installed its new board.

Lois McMullen, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, is the new president. She is active in several area volunteer and counseling groups, and will teach a course on adoption at the seminary in the fall. Virginia Bachalis, the first vice president, is a musician and choir master. Judy Wist is secretary. The outgoing president, Susan Engelman, will take over as treasurer.

At the same meeting, Susan Waxwood, a member since 1966, was awarded life membership.

The winner of the Soroptimist scholarship, Karina Regal, attended the meeting with her mother. A graduate of Princeton High School, Ms. Regal has tallied 300 hours at the Princeton Medical Center volunteering as a translator. She will attend Rutgers to study biology.

The Soroptimists meet on the third Tuesday of the month.

Karina Regal

For more information, call 921-9236. There will be at least one informal meeting in the summer.

Joseph Kowalski, president, Capitol Management Consulting, Inc., Hopewell, was elected President of the Princeton Chapter, Institute of Management Consultants. Mr. Kowalski was a founding memeber of the chapter in 1990 and served as its treasurer.

YWCA Bus Trip Planned To See Chinese Paintings

The Princeton YWCA will sponsor a bus trip to the Asia Society in New York City Wednesday, July 1, for a guided tour of the current show, "Challenging the Past: The Paintings of Chang Dai-chien."

One of the foremost Chinese artists of the 20th century, Chang Dai-chien (1899-1983), achieved fame early in his 60-year career and painted almost 30,000 works. The last master of traditional Chinese painting, Chang was also a seminal force in ushering Chinese art into the modern era. His innovation of splashed ink and color painting — a style inspired by both eighth-century Chinese painting and Western abstract expressionism — injected a modern vision into Chinese painting by expanding, but not breaking with Chinese tradition. Nearly 50 of his paintings are now on view at the Asia Society.

The tour will include transportation, guided tour and ticket to the exhibit. Participants can bring a brown bag lunch or indicate that they would like a gourmet box lunch, by paying $7.50 extra when they register. Cost for the day without the box lunch is $30 for YWCA members and $33 for nonmembers.

The bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 10 and return about 3. For more information, call the Princeton YWCA Adult Department at 497-2103.

Exhibits

There will be a gala closing reception Sunday afternoon from 5 to 8 p.m. of an exhibit of paintings and photographs entitled "Views of Princeton and Beyond" by Princeton artists Elizabeth Lombardi, Wink Einthoven, Lucy Graves McVicker and Charles McVicker. It will feature live Mozart music and refreshments.

This exhibit, which opened June 2, is in the upstairs University League Gallery at 171 Broadmead.

The watercolors, oils, and monotypes of Ms. Lombardi and the McVickers make an interesting counterpoint to the sensitive images of Mr. Einthoven's camera. Many of the depictions are of Princeton University and its environs.

Charles McVicker shows two of the four seasonal paintings done of the Princeton campus. These are the original paintings of limited edition prints. Also on view is a watercolor of the Woodrow Wilson School and its fountain in early morning sunlight.

Wink Einthoven's architectural knowledge is apparent in his finely grained photographic studies of the gargoyles, chimera, and other architectural details to be found on the Princeton campus.

Lucy Graves McVicker's work includes a textured watercolor of the McCosh garden, subtle flower paintings, and an Amish front porch at sundown.

Elizabeth Lombardi, well-known Princeton portraitist, displays her watercolor skills in several character studies and abstractions.

Until the exhibit closes on June 28, gallery hours are 9 to 12 Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

STENTZ SAFE ON BANG-BANG PLAY: Post 218's Ben Stentz appears to be out in his attempt to steal third base, but Trenton Post 93 third baseman Bob Scarlatta lets ball roll loose (lower right) during collision and Stentz was safe. Stentz, who later scored Post 218's first run in the first inning, had three hits in game but Post 218 lost a thriller, 10-9.

Post 218 in Flat Period After 0-4 Week in MCALL

Princeton Post 218 went oh-and-four last week in the Mercer County American Legion League race to fall to 2-8 after ten starts in the 27-game season. Still time to turn things around but coach Tom Parker's squad has to start now.

"We're in a flat period," acknowledged Parker. "We can't seem to get things working together; one day the offense goes and defense doesn't. The next time it's the other way around.

"I still contend we're a very capable team. We have as much talent as anybody on any given day, but we've lost a couple of close ones and had a couple of blowouts."

———

Last week's numbers are grim. On Sunday, a 16-6 loss to Ewing where starter Danny Wilson, who had pitched a one-hitter eight days earlier for the team's last win, failed to survive the first inning when Ewing plated ten runs. Wilson was tagged for nine runs before being replaced by Daren Horangic.

The previous day, Post 218 was blanked 7-0 by Hopewell, one of the surprising teams in the league this year. Post 339 hurler Warren Horvath fashioned a 5-hit shutout.

Post 218 began the week inauspiciously. The bats were silent (just three hits) in a 13-0 thrashing by Hamilton. Two days later, on Thursday, against visiting Trenton Post 93 it suffered a wrenching, 10-9 loss. After rallying for three runs in the last inning, Post 218 had the tying and winning runs on base with one out but failed to get either across.

Six games are scheduled in the next eight days in a make or break week for the team. Following a scheduled game with Mitchell Davis, Post 218 will visit Bordentown Thursday and host Lawrence Post 414 on Friday at 5:45.

On Monday it will face league-leading Broad Street Park at the Hamilton High diamond and on Tuesday it will be involved in two decisions. It will host rival Princeton Post 76 at 5:45 but before that the two teams will complete their June 11 game which ended in a 4-4 tie before being called for darkness.

Post 218 Outhits Victors

Post 218 outhit Ewing, 12-10, in Sunday's game, including a home run and double from Wilson, who had three hits, and two each from Ben Stentz, Chris Healey, and Matt Deveau.

Ewing, for its part, had a one-man wrecking crew in DH Justin Latini who had four hits in four at bats and drove in six runs. Two of his hits were doubles, including a two-run double in Ewing's big first inning. Ewing put the game out of reach with five more runs in the fourth.

Wilson, the first of three Post 218 pitchers, took the loss, his third against one win. Ewing feasted on 11 walks and four Post 218 errors.

The previous day against Hopewell, Deveau had two of Princeton's five hits. For Hopewell, Sean McQuaid showed why he is one of the league's leading hitters. The Post 339 catcher smacked a solo homer in the fifth off Post 218 starter Jeremy Rathbone and then connected for a two-run circuit smash an inning later off Healey in relief. That was all icing on the cake: Hopewell had scored all it needed with four runs in the second inning when McQuaid singled home one run and Brian Obinger singled home a pair.

In Post 218's opening game of the week, Geoff Spies, Mike Procaccini and Rathbone had the only three hits allowed by Hamilton's Mike Abaid who also fanned seven and did not issue a single walk in winning his second decision.

The cruelest loss by far, however, was the one-run setback at the hands of Trenton. Off to a dismal 0-7 start, Trenton had crushed Mitchell-Davis in its previous start and against Post 218 the visitors scored in every inning but the last, going 1-2-3-1-2-1 for a 10-6 lead.

Post 218, which led 2-1 after the first inning, scored three more in the fourth and in the last inning it had narrowed the gap to 10-9 when Healey's pop fly dropped in for a hit. Post 218 had runners on third and second with one out when manager Jim Davala called on Gerald Conover to relieve starter Joe Welsh.

Conover fanned Dan Sheridan for the second out. Mike Procaccini, Post 218's last out, "battled him (Conover) pretty good," said Parker. "Their kid was throwing fire. Mike hit the ball pretty good up the middle but their shortstop made a good play — considering the light." Post 93 shortstop Steve DeCostanzo threw out Procaccini for the final out.

Post 76 Wins 2 of 3

In action last week, Princeton Post 76 won big twice and lost Saturday to Trenton for a 3-6 record.

Post 76 began the week with a 12-hit, 10-0 rout of Bordentown behind the three-hit, five-strikeout pitching of Mark McKenzie. Greg Papciak led It's amazing how often the number 4 occurred in Hank Aaron's career ... Aaron's uniform number was 44 ... He broke Babe Ruth's all-time home run record in the 4th inning of the 4th game of the season, in the 4th month of the year (April) in 1974 ... The pitcher he hit that historic homer against (Al Downing) also wore 44 on his uniform ... Aaron was batting 4th in the lineup ... 4 times in his career he hit exactly 44 homers in a season, and so it goes.

the 76ers at the plate with four hits in four at bats, while second-baseman Dave Urbanek drove in five runs with a two-run single in the second and a base-clearing, three-run double in the third.

Two days later, Post 76 picked up its third win with an easy, 13-3 victory over Mitchell Davis. Nick Hsieh had three of Post 76's ten hits and Papciak rapped his sixth and seventh hits in his last 12 at bats by driving in three runs on two hits. Edwin Upson scattered eight hits and walked only one to nail down his first win.

Against Trenton, Post 76 grabbed a 1-0 lead off Matt McClenahan's solo homer in the first but the Schroths tied it in the same inning and then went ahead with two runs in the second and two more in the third on Mike Seiler's two-run homer en route to a 6-3 win.

Hsieh and Phil Ledesma combined for half of Post 76's eight hits. Jim Jacobsohn, the first of three 76 hurlers, suffered his first loss.

On Monday, Post 76 lost again, as five of its pitchers were clubbed by Lawrence hitters in a 16-5 loss. Dave Scorsolini, Joe Diefenbach and Bob Simonds each drove in three runs for fourth-place Lawrence.

Post 414 led 12-0 before Post 76 scored all its runs in the fifth inning. Winning pitcher Jerry Cox allowed just four hits as Post 76 fell to 3-7. Lawrence won for sixth time in nine starts.

Summer Basketball League New and Improved for '92

"New" and "improved," two words favored by advertising agencies, could also be applied to the Princeton Recreation Summer Basketball League.

The league began its fourth year of operation last week and Princeton High basketball coach Doug Snyder, who serves as league commissioner along with Gil Fisher, states "it's definitely grown more competitive. It's much better than it was in the first three years."

Something new, reports Snyder, is the league is now sanctioned by the NCAA, which means Division I players can play. Before, he said, the teams were comprised of just local players.

What's improved is the caliber of players. Blitz Wooten, who was the key member of McCorristin quintets that terrorized and laid waste to high school teams in Mercer County for four years, plays for league newcomer Chemical Bank. Wooten, a Division I player, is currently playing on a scholarship for LaSalle. Brother Tamar Wooten runs the team.

Rich Simkus, a 6-9 player for Princeton University a few years back, plays for Billy Hill's Musicmen, another new team in the now eight-team league.

Another example: Mike D'Allegro, a 1,000-point scorer at Montgomery High before a post-graduate year at the Hun School, where he scored 368 points for the Raiders in the 1990-91 season, is the sixth leading Division III scorer in the nation playing for Stevens Institute of Technology.

Talent, Talent, Talent.

With the infusion of such talent, the question rises — will the defending league champions be able to repeat? In its three years the league has had only one champion, playing last year under the My-T-Fine name and this year as Artistic Building Enterprises.

While the team name may change, the champions are the same crew, nearly all former Princeton High standouts. Darius Young and John Thompson were both four-year players for the Little Tigers. In their senior year (1987-88), Young averaged 24.5 points a game in tossing in 614 points, accounting for 40 percent of the entire Little Tiger offense that year. Thompson averaged 15.2 points a game in connecting for 335 points.

Freddie Young, a triple-threat athlete at PHS, scored 298 points in leading PHS to a 15-8 record in 1984-85 — his senior year. Also on the team are Brian Williams, captain of the Princeton High team two years ago, Charles Brown and player-manager Dave Johnson.

For those who want to see some of the best summer basketball in the area, games are played at 6:15, 7:15 and 8:15 on Monday and Wednesday nights. On Friday there are games at 6:15 and 7:15 with an open hour for make-up games.

In the regular ten-game schedule, each team will play everybody once and then play three more games. For the three extra games, Snyder said he will try to keep the competition balanced — pitting the better teams and the less successful ones against each other.

At the end of regulation play there will be a single elimination playoff so every team will get to play at least once. When the playoffs have narrowed the field down to two survivors, there will be a best-of-three series for the championship.

The court at Community Park has been resurfaced and all new lines painted. "It is really in nice shape," said Snyder, who agreed to serve as league commissioner on the condition that his own high school team would be one of the participants.

Most of the members of the Princeton High team that Snyder led to the Central Jersey Group II state championship last winter are back, including Bram Reynolds, Scott Simmons and Rodney Derry. They are playing as Princeton Youth Sports.

Snyder and Fisher are being assisted by Sheryl Hendley of the Princeton Recreation Department in running the league.

Intimidating Front Court

Billy Hill of Billy Hill's Musicmen is an accomplished singer in night clubs and cabarets in the Trenton-Hamilton area. The team is coached by 6-4 Pete Sharpless, a 6-8 high jumper for the Little Tigers and major player on the 1980-81 PHS basketball team — his senior year.

He is joined up front by Simkus and 6-6 Jeff Bullis. Although not a starter, Bullis played for John Thompson at Georgetown University and with Sleepy Floyd. Said Snyder, "If that is not an intimidating front court, I don't know what is."

SMB (Saturday Morning Brigade), starting its second year in the league, is made up of players in their early and mid-30s, who play every morning at the YMCA and wanted to continue to play in the summer. Rich Scherzer is SMB's leader and Clarence White and Daryl Moore the coaches. Two members of the team are two names from the past, twins Kevin and Kelly Robinson, who played for three years at PHS under Marv Trotman. In their senior year (1979-80) Kelly poured in 258 points, Kevin 232.

Another newcomer is Bergman & Barrett, a Princeton law firm-sponsored team. Bob Nuse, a sports writer for the Princeton Packet, and Rich Fisher, a former writer for the paper, are the coaches. Players include Ben Stentz and Evan Moorhead, two graduating seniors on Snyder's championship team, and Mike Williams, captain of the 1990-91 Hun basketball team and a 288-point scorer his senior year.

Scott Nesbitt is player-coach of the Lawn Master team that includes Chris Carlton of Hopewell Valley High and Craig Perkins and Maulick Joshi.

Bellini of Princeton Shopping Center is sponsoring another new team. Bruce Carnegie, who showed up at an organizational meeting unattached, said he wanted to head a team and Bellini is the result. Mike D'Allegro is the coach and his father, John D'Allegro helps out.

Sharpshooting Greg Cygan, a senior on the Hun 1989-90 team and possibly the best three-shooter in Raider history, is a member of the team, as is Brian Lloyd, a former Rutgers Prep player who will attend Brown this fall. Matt Bastardi, assistant football coach at Trenton State College, where he was joined by former PHS football coach Kurt Vollherbst, is another.

Ficarro's Keeps Lead In Women's Softball

The Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team held on to the number one spot in the Mercer County Women's League last week by winning both of its games under the 10-run rule. Ficarro's exacted revenge on Logo Sports, a team which it had lost to earlier 12-2, by winning 11-1. After a shaky start, Ficarro's got going and ran over Matt & Al's Stars 17-7.

In the win over Logo, Ficarro's winning pitcher Carol Ann Mazzella scattered seven hits, while her teammates provided a 17-hit attack, led by Doreen "Bip" Romanchuk (three-for three, double, triple), Grace Durland (three-for three), and Dee Discavage, Shannon Keenan, Sandi Hibbs and Mazzella, each two-for-three.

Against Matt & Al's, Ficarro's gave up six runs in the top of the first inning, but then came back with nine in the bottom of the inning. Ficarro's added two runs in the fourth and six more in the sixth, to put the game away. Mazzella was the winning pitcher.

The hitting was led by Cindy Lombardo and Durland (each three-for-four), Janet Comerford (three-for-four, double, three RBIs) and Hibbs, Donna Nicholson, Carla Brantley and Romanchuk.

Next up for Ficarro's is a game against Ground Round on Thursday at 8:30 p.m. on Field 3 in Mercer Park and a key contest with Grove Plumbing on Tuesday at 6:30, Field 6.

Two Sessions Planned For Women's Tennis

The Mercer County Park Commission will run a women's 3.5 and 4.0 round robin tennis program at its Outdoor Tennis Center in Mercer County Park.

It will be held on Monday and Wednesday mornings beginning at 9 and run for approximately two hours. There will be two sessions this year. Session I will run from July 6 to 29, and Session II from August 3 to 26.

Players interested in participating sign up as individual players but games are played in a progressive partner doubles format; each player will have a new partner and new opponents for each round of play.

The fee is $10 for players who have a 1992 season pass, $20 for players without a pass. Applications are available at the Tennis Center or by calling 448-2088. Deadline for submitting applications is June 29.

Chemical, Artistic Stay Unbeaten

As a result of Monday night's three games, two teams remain unbeaten in the Summer Basketball League.

In a battle between unbeatens, Chemical Bank banded Billy Hill's Musicmen their first loss, 51-40, as Garland Gillette led the victors with 18 points. Pete Sharpless and Rich Simkus paced the losers with 16 and 12 points.

Artistic Builders kept pace with Chemical by handing Bergman & Barrett its third loss with a 48-39 verdict, led by Marc Brown's 13 points, while Princeton Youth Sports won its second game in three starts by trimming Lawn Master, 56-50. Princeton High stars Bram Reynolds with 18 points and Rodney Derry with 10 paced PYS. Lew Barber (14) and Chris Carlton (12) were high for the losers.

Trailing Chemical Bank and Artistic (both 2-0) in the standings are Princeton Youth Sports and Billy Hill, both 2-1. Bodini is even at 1-1 while three teams are still looking for that first win: B&B 0-3, Lawn Master 0-2, and SMB 0-1.

In games this Wednesday at Community Park: Lawn Master meets SMB at 6:15; Princeton Youth Sports takes on Bellini at 7:15 and the two front-runners, Chemical and Artistic, will clash at 8:15.

OBITUARIES

Lucy Ann Jackson, 102, died June 15 at the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Miss Jackson was born in Princeton, in the house on Green Street in which she lived all of her life until recent illness sent her to Merwick. She and her sister, Rallar Rose, were the youngest of eight children of Frederick P. and Lucy Ann Jackson, who were originally from Culpepper, Va. In an interview with TOWN TOPICS on her 100th birthday, Miss Jackson spoke of her father "stealing away" from Virginia on foot, chased by slaveowners but continuing on "till he got on free land where he knew he would be safe."

———

First Baptist Church began in the prayer meetings held in the Jackson's home on Green Street, and Miss Lucy's father was one of five men baptized there on August 5, 1855, the date the church uses as its founding date. She was an active member of the church, served as its musician for many years and was a member of the choir.

As a child, she was taught at home by her mother through third grade and then attended the school for colored children on the corner of Witherspoon and MacLean streets. Because Princeton High School was not integrated at the time, she went away for high school, graduating from Bordentown Training School in 1912.

Surviving are many friends, including Eddie Willis of Brooklyn, N.Y., William Bowser and Barbara Swain of Ewing, Martha Barbour, Audrey Mack, Richard J. Casey and Earl McQueen Sr., all of Princeton, and Barbara Jean Grier of Trenton.

The service was held at First Baptist Church, the Rev. Michael Nabors, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

———

Ruth Pierson, 94, of Hopewell, died June 15 in Lawrenceville Nursing Home.

Born in Hopewell, she was a lifelong resident. She was formerly employed by the State of New Jersey for several years.

Daughter of the late George E. and Bertha Hammell Pierson, she is survived by two nieces, Sallie A. Pierson of Mercerville, and Roberta P. Fernow of Bowie, Md.; three grandnieces and a grandnephew.

A memorial service was held Thursday at a Hamilton funeral home. Burial was private. Memorial contributions may be made to Hopewell Fire and Rescue Squad, Columbia Avenue, Hopewell 08525.

Barbara Sladek Wright, 45, of Lawrenceville, died June 17 at home.

Born in Elmhurst, Ill., she lived in the Lawrenceville-Princeton area for the last 12 years. Mrs. Wright was a graduate of the University of Michigan and Temple University. She was a school psychologist and was employed by the state of New Jersey. She was also a member of the Mercer Bucks Running Club.

Surviving are her husband, Jack K. Wright Jr.; a son, Gavin Boyles of Princeton; a daughter, Cara D. Boyles of Princeton; her parents, Arthur E. and Marilyn Gallo Sladek of Oak Brook Terrace, Ill.; two brothers, Paul A. and James E. Sladek of Lombard, Ill.; three sisters, Mary Dreiser of Downers Grove, Ill., Ardythe Rasmussen of Neenah, Wis., and Marilyn Krukoff of Lombard, Ill.; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at a Pennington funeral home, the Rev. Rowland Carlson officiating. Burial was private. Contributions may be made to the Princeton YWCA Breast Cancer Resource Center, in care of Jane Rodney, Paul Robeson Place, Princeton 08540.

Italo "Lee" S. Freda, 57, of Kendall Park, died June 18 at home.

Born in Princeton, he lived in Kendall Park for the last 35 years. He was a 1954 graduate of Princeton High School and president of his class. He graduated from Rider College in 1959.

Mr. Freda was a systems analyst for Cigna Company. For the past 10 years, he had been a business manager for South Brunswick Family Practice. He was the former vice president and co-founder of the South Brunswick Athletic Society and former president of the South Brunswick Little League and its coach for 25 years. He was a former member of the Recreation Board of South Brunswick.

Son of the late Dominic Freda, he is survived by his wife, Sharon J. Freda; three daughters, Jennifer Marie Freda, at home, Deborah David of Mission Viejo, Calif., and Elizabeth Mead of Plainsboro; his mother, Marcellina, of Little Rocky Hill; three brothers, Dr. John C. Freda of Perrineville, and Anthony D. and Paul, both of Kendall Park.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Saturday in St. Augustine's of Canterbury Church, Henderson Road, Franklin Park. Entombment will be in Franklin Memorial Park. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 3076 Princeton Pike, Lawrence 08648.

———

Beatrice E. Myers Wright, 85, of West Windsor, died June 19 at home.

Born in Trenton, Mrs. Wright had lived in West Windsor for the past 65 years. She was a graduate of Trenton Normal School, now Trenton State College, and formerly taught in the Hamilton Township School District. She was a member of the Westerly Road Church in Princeton.

Wife of the late Paul E. Wright, she is survived by two daughters, Virginia L. Zulker of Washington Crossing, Pa., and Constance W. Payne of Charleston, W. Va.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Tuesday at the Westerly Road Church, the Rev. Dr. Matthew Ristuccia Sr., pastor, and Mrs. Wright's grandson-in-law, the Rev. Dr. Jonathan Bosse Sr., pastor of the New Monmouth Baptist Church, co-officiating. Memorial contributions may be made to the Westerly Road Church Building Fund, 37 Westerly Road, Princeton 08540.

Herbert Fishman, 62, of Sycamore Road, died June 19 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in New York City, Mr. Fishman lived in Princeton for 30 years. He received his B.S. degree from City College of New York and his M.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin. He was a member of the technical staff at the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory for 32 years.

———

Mr. Fishman was a volunteer and also served as a treasurer for the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Surviving are his wife, Janis P. Fishman; a daughter, Sarah Mertz of Lawrenceville; and a brother, Irving Fishman in San Francisco, Calif.

The service and burial will be private. Arrangements are under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home. Friends may call at Mr. Fishman's home this Wednesday, June 24, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Contributions may be made to Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, PO Box 529, Princeton 08542.

Bulletin Notes

Princeton United Methodist Church will begin its summer worship schedule on Sunday. Worship will be at 10 in the Sanctuary, with the summer Sunday program for children through grade four in the education wing also at 10. Nursery care will be provided between 10 and 11.

For further information, call the Church office at 924-2613.

Nassau Presbyterian Church will present Lozarus, a musical on hunger and poverty by Joel Underwood, on Sunday at 9:30 in the sanctuary, preceding the 11 a.m. worship service. Lozarus is a biblically-grounded musical based on Jesus' story about the rich man and Lazarus in the Gospel of Luke. It was written for Bread for the World, a Washington-based organization working on hunger issues here and around the world.

The performance is open to the public and free of charge. The same performance will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening in Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary.

The presentation is performed by Harriet Harlow Larsen, accompanied by Lou Ann Rice. Ms. Harlow Larsen is a member of Bread for the World. In 1988 she adapted Lozorus to a one-woman show which she presents for churches and organizations dealing specifically with hunger and poverty issues.

Ms. Rice is the pianist for the Floyd "Red" Rice Orchestra, widely known throughout Oklahoma for more than 40 years.

"Barbecue and Bible" will be the focus of activity at First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro on Wednesday evenings this July. Families and singles are invited to bring their own meat to barbecue and a side dish or dessert to share. The church will provide grills, beverages, and condiments.

Barbecue will begin at 6:30 with everyone eating together on the church lawn. At 7:15, children are invited to join the "Summer Bible Club," with songs, crafts, and a study of Psalm 23, The Shepherd's Psalm. Adults will study various topics, including Disappointment with God, Facing our Fears, and Responding to Riches.

PERHAPS IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO MOVE INTO PRINCETON ITSELF

Living in Princeton Borough or Township is much more than just having a Princeton address.

Here are a few of the real benefits:

1) "The best public schools in the state." (N.J. Monthly) 2) A real large European-like town to call home. 3) A unique diversified community of people. 4) A very special university with many activities. 5) Time to do everything instead of chauffeuring the kids in and out of Princeton.

It's time to move in. The prices have never been better.

A FARM WITH A GREAT COLONIAL FOR THE PRICE OF A BIG IN-TOWN HOME. Why not give yourself and your family a special gift this year? "Province Hill" - winding roads, emerald green lawns enhanced by beautiful landscaping around distinctive contemporary homes make this exclusive gated enclave one of the most desirable in the area. Red double doors are a pleasant contrast with the vertical cedar siding. They open to a dramatic foyer with soaring ceiling, tiled floor and a natural wood spiral stair to a balcony and loft above. The living room has a sophisticated elegance with its cathedral ceiling, handsome fireplace and glass wall overlooking a charming terrace secluded by weathered fencing. The library, walled with silk, also has a fireplace. The sparkling white kitchen is superb and includes an informal living area. The master bedroom, and bath are luxurious. Two spacious bedrooms share a bath. Lawrence Township. Princeton address. $469,000

Pennsylvania Fieldstone Colonial In Princeton

This stately fieldstone Colonial seems timeless and, although it is only one year old, has become one of Princeton's finest homes. A winding drive leads up a gentle hill to a stone-paved court and porticoed entrance. The dramatic foyer opens to a spectacular 20' high living room with Palladian windows, fireplace and French doors. Deep crown molding and a fireplace detail the formal dining room. Walnut panelling enriches the handsome library which has wet bar and fireplace. A family room has a fireplace, custom pine cabinetry for the entertainment center and a delightful solarium. The large white Corian and tile kitchen opens onto the family living areas. Completing the first floor is a breakfast room, maid's room and bath and a sun room. On the second floor is a truly luxurious master suite — spacious bedroom, sitting room with fireplace, "his" and "her" baths and exercise room. Two family bedrooms — each with a bath. The third floor features a charming dormered room with bath and a huge storage area. Over the three-car garage, an apartment with living room, bedroom and kitchenette. All on 4+ beautiful wooded acres in northwest Princeton.

T.O.O.

Again we've done it! While many builders/developers are having trouble, we've just invested $20,000 into our latest acquisition and doubled its value from $120,000 to $240,000 — smallish numbers but a huge profit percentage — typical for us. We can do this frequently because we're good, and we know where, when, and what to do (do we hear a horn?). So, for guaranteed returns of 8% to 15% on amounts from $10,000 to $300,000, or for a customized program, call us.

New to the Market
Offered at $437,000

Imagine living in a home that's built with quality in mind. Imagine living in a home situated on a lot that feels like a park. Imagine sitting in the sun room and listening to the birds chirp. Imagine sitting in front of a toasty fire on a cold winter night. Imagine a dinner party in the large formal dining room. Imagine retreating to the second-floor library/media room. Imagine owning this wonderful home in the western section of Princeton.

You can hardly begin to imagine the many possible ways you can utilize this fine home. Of course, there is a large finished basement, updated kitchen, 4 bedrooms and 2 1/2 bathrooms.

A call to Ray Wolkind is all you will need to do to start turning your imagination into reality.

Serious Offers Invited

Private showings of this dramatic, custom-built 4,200-square-foot center-hall colonial are now being scheduled.

Built approximately 24 months ago, this high quality, nearly new construction features a grand two-story foyer, sweeping curved staircase, ultra-modern Siematic kitchen, two-story family room, richly appointed library, huge first-floor game room/studio/fifth bedroom, and luxurious master bedroom suite with fireplace, circular whirlpool tub, and private balcony...all on a 1.48-acre lot that is both naturally wooded (with babbling brook!) and professionally landscaped. Clearly, this is a home for sophisticated buyers.

An enormous full basement, two-car attached garage, lustrous hardwood flooring throughout, and in-home office possibilities add still more to this impressive 4- to 5-bedroom, 3-bath residence.

Call Linda Darkes directly at the numbers shown above to schedule a private showing or to request a detailed property fact sheet. The builder has priced this home at $475,000 and is inviting serious offers.
